Columnist Is Coming As Lecturer

Drew Pearson, internationally celebrated columnist whose "Washington Merry-Go-Round" appears daily in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and 600 other newspapers, will lecture on "Behind The Scenes With John F. Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev" at Highline College, 8:15 P.M., December 10, it was announced by Mr. Wendell A. Phillips, lecture-concerts committee chairman.

The meeting, sponsored as a campus and community service, is open to the public and will be held in the gymnasium of Glacier High School, Mr. Phillips said.

Pearson is a graduate of Swarthmore College and has been reporting the Washington and international scene since 1922. Formerly on the faculties of Columbia University and the University of Pennsylvania, Pearson has been writing his "Washington Merry-Go-Round" since 1931. From 1929 to 1932 he was on the staff of the Baltimore Sun. He has been in attendance as observer and reporter at numerous international diplomatic conferences since the close of World War One. In 1942 Pearson received Sigma Delta Chi's award for "Best Washington Journalism."

Admission tickets for the lecture are on sale to the public at Highline College. The cost is $1 for the public, 50 cents for Glacier High School students, and 25 cents for Highline Night School students. Those students with Highline College student body cards will be admitted free.

Seal Is Chosen

An official seal for Highline College was approved by the Highline School Board this week.

It was designed by Mr. Rik Lough, art instructor, and shows a palette and crossed brushes for fine arts; the worker bee for biological sciences; crossed pens for communications field; a beaker with wires representing the cyclotron.

The seal will be used for college diplomas and other official documents.

Winter Quarter Starts With New Courses

Tentative scheduling for winter quarter at Highline College began November 5 with students meeting with their advisors. Fees to be paid for the coming winter quarter and final registering will take place in December. All new students entering Highline College will register after January 1, 1963.

New courses added for winter quarter were outlined as follows by Dr. Shirley Gordon, Director of Curricula: English 150—Technical Writing for Engineering; English 151-2—Creative Writing with a pre-requisite of English 101; English 122—The Literature of Drama is being offered for students interested in drama, and English 12, a reading course is being offered with English 11 a pre-requisite. Speech 120, a course in public speaking also will be offered winter quarter. Students interested in drama have a course offering in Drama 110, the direct production and acting in plays.

New business courses offered for winter quarter are General Business 250, a course in Business Law and Economics 110; a course in Economic Geography. Economics 110 is only being offered in night school.

Sociology 110, a survey course in the interaction of people upon each other, will be offered winter quarter. Gymnastics for both men and women and Basketball for men will be offered for the first time winter quarter. Choral Music for winter quarter will be open for those students who did not participate in the subject fall quarter.

College Enrollment Jumps 66 per cent

A 66 per cent increase in enrollment has taken place at Highline College since last year. The 1962 fall enrollment is 2310, of which 712 are day students. This is an increase of 82 for day students over the initial enrollment of 630 just one year ago when the college first opened. Of these students the remainder are students in night classes.

In the fall of 1961, there were 17 full-time and 3 part-time faculty members. In the fall quarter of 1962 the number of faculty members increased to 29 full time and 3 part time members.

Until the new college is completed in the fall of 1964, limited facilities make it necessary to restrict the number of students in attendance. A waiting list is kept for students wishing to enter the college.

Annual Poll Planned

The decision about having an annual will be based on the results of an official poll to be taken this month. Students will be asked to indicate their choice of two prices or no annual.

A verbal poll was taken last month by Doug Gorman, sophomore president. About one hundred students expressed their support for an annual.

Election for student body and class officers were held at Highline College on Thursday, Oct. 4, when the voting student body of 320 polled their preferences of governing politicians for the school year October 1962 to October 1963.

The Associated Student Body again showed its confidence in Bob Noble by re-electing him for another year to the office of president. Dan Ursino proved victorious over Bud Wilder in a run-off of the tie vote for the vice president's office on October 5. Jon Ann Stecker defeated her opponent for the secretary's office. As treasurer, Steve Conner will be keeping account of

Course For Nurses Given At Highline

Twenty-six housewives, who years ago graduated from nursing schools in many different areas of the United States and as far away as Sweden, are returning to active nursing through a Highline College-refresher course for registered nurses.

Mrs. Rosmarie E. Brown, R.N., is instructor-coordinator of the eleven week course which is being offered at Highline College for the first time this fall.

The nurses are studying two evenings a week from 7:30 to 9:30 on the Highline College Campus. An additional four hours a week are being spent in the medical, surgical and pediatric wards of Riverton Hospital, West Seattle Hospital or Burien General Hospital. The three study areas that the re-orientation course is emphasizing are Modern Nursing Skills, Advances in Medication Therapy, and Modern Equipment.

This type of refresher course for graduate nurses is being offered because of a national shortage of graduate nurses. A survey taken last year in Washington state by the National League for Nursing revealed that 3,242 non-active graduate nurses would be interested in returning to work if refresher courses were offered. So far, Highline College and the University of Washington are the only colleges to offer such a course in Western Washington; Children's Orthopedic Hospital also conducts a course in pediatric nursing.

The refresher course for Nurses (Nursing 50) will be offered again at Highline College next semester. Graduate nurses who are interested in further information should call or write Mrs. Rosmarie E. Brown, RN, Highline College.

Art Club Elects

The Art Club of Highline College has elected for its president Michael Comeau, with Dan Smith as vice president. In charge of finances and minutes of the meetings will be Sue Berg, secretary-treasurer.

Under the tutelage of Instructor Rik Gwin, the Art Club is undertaking three projects for the year. These are re-decorating the student lounge, setting up an art library, and planning an art auction.

A committee is setting up an art library in Room 502, with clippings of paintings being collected for reference use by the students. The purpose of the art auction is to provide a scholarship fund for an art major, realized from the sales of art pieces created in art classes.

At the present time, the Art Club meets each Wednesday at noon in Room 503; however, Art Club members are advised to check the daily bulletin for any change in this schedule.

Art Taylor Is Chosen King of Cheer

On Wednesday, November 14, twenty judges elected Art Taylor 1962-63 king of the Highline College Cheer Staff. "Kip" Galbraith, Barbara Callas, Joyce Dortero and Gail Gaige were also elected Cheer Staff members. The five will make their first appearance in December at the first Highline College intercollegiate basketball game.

The cheer staff tryouts were held at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Glacier High School cafeteria. The twenty judges were selected from the Sophomore, Freshman, and the Associated Student Body officers, and the heads of all the college's clubs and committees.

Each of the judges was instructed to vote for five of the eighteen contestants and to elect either a king or queen of cheer by placing a gold star after one of the five names.

Travel Seminar Set For Next Summer

Highline College is planning its first annual travel seminar to the British Isles in 1963. The cost is $800 for six weeks.

On Monday July 2, 1963, a group of Highline College students will be leaving for a tour of England, Scotland, Ireland, and Wales. On August 13, 1963 they will return. They will be under the guidance of Mr. Wendell A. Phillips, Highline College instructor. He has lived in Germany ten years and has traveled in Europe, the Middle East, and the Far East. The group will lodge in colleges, castles, and hostels. They will see many of the plays of the London theater and visit historical sites.

Mr. Phillips hopes that the group will learn to see the United States as foreigners see it.

The college will grant five credit hours for approved research work started before the tour begins.

HIGHLINE COLLEGE LIBRARY Paper Gets Name

Thunder-Word has been re-voted as the official name of the Highline College paper.

The name choice was thrown open to the student body early this month and a $5 prize offered for the best new name. Preliminary screening down to ten names was done by the paper staff; final choice was left to the ASB board.

Among the finalists were: Highline News Bulletin, Highline Dispatch, Highline Campus Caller, Highline Campus News, Highline College By-Line, Highline Digest, Highline Crier, Highline News Journal, Highline Guide-Line.

THE THUNDER-WORD

Here it is—The first issue of the 1962-63 Thunder-Word! But, how did this newspaper come into being? What is its purpose as a college newspaper? And, how can we as Highline College students best support our newspaper?

These are questions that might be considered by both Freshmen and Sophomore students at the presentation of this issue.

Last year the newspaper was put out as an extra curricular activity. The staff worked closely with the ASB officers and faculty in an attempt to keep the student body informed of the many college activities.

This year Highline College has started out with an established journalism class. The newspaper is being printed at the Highline Times office in Burien. Each of the staff members has had the opportunity of a guided tour through the print shop.

Providing a medium for group opinions and personal expression, though, the newspaper cannot be the project of just one class or a handful of people. The whole school must participate in its production and it must display the thoughts and feelings of the entire student body.

Letters to the staff, statements of agreement or disagreement with the paper's policies, suggestions for news stories, and any other tips from the student body are a necessity. It is only through two-way communication that all sides of a situation may be explored.

REMEMBER ADVERTISERS

This year your college paper is selling advertisements to the business men of the Burien, Des Moines, and Seattle area. These businesses advertise to help us finance future issues of the Thunder-Word. In turn, you as supporters of the college should aid them by buying from them on a regular basis.

You'll find at least one example of any kind of retail establishment within a few blocks of the Highline College campus. Patronize your local stores.

Letters To The Editor

Students Urged To Enter Politics

Dear Editor:

Where are the Young Republicans? I, as a student and a citizen, shudder to think that the students of this college could be satisfied to let the Democrats have the only political voice on campus. My ears have picked up the voices of a few students who say that they can get no cooperation to start a club. We are a new school, therefore, we need leadership before we can have this cooperation. Leaders, unite! Give the Young Democrats some opposition. At first, membership may be small, but most of the other clubs on campus are plagued with small membership. No clubs have died out yet. Again I say, where are you Young Republicans?

Respectfully,
NANCY JONES,
A Young Democrat.

Chuck Dunham as Farmer Gates; Ed Stoll as William Dowson; Ann Killoran as Patience, and Verlae Gabel as Julia.

Joan Feder, Gary Moore, Doug McMurry and Ann Killoran attend Highline College.

Admission for adults is $1.00 and $.50 for students. Coffee will be served during the intermission.

Extra attractions will be six olee acts; a singing quartette with Rosemary Gabel, Betty Williams, Norma Hodge, and Peggy Hurt; two singers Ruth Plunrose and Mary Lou Sandretsky; a dance routine by Marton Olson and Ellen Herring; a magic act by Alfredo Rendon; and a guitar and song act by Chuck Dunham.

Ski Club Elects

Bud Wilder was elected president of the Highline Ski Club at the organization's second meeting. He will be assisted by Fred Wolfstone as vice-president, Sue Pettes as secretary, and Sharon Walker as treasurer.

The group voted to accept the invitation of Everett Junior College for racing competition. Future plans include a possible patch, a chartered trip, movies and lectures.

Choir Needs Voices

Students interested in joining the Highline College Choir should contact Dr. Paul Oncley by leaving a note for him in the Administration Office. The choir will make several public appearances during the Christmas season. Members meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 a. m. An accompanist is needed and soprano and alto voices are especially welcome.

One of the busiest spots on campus is the library in the "200" Building where Ernest Anderson presides as librarian. Even with limited facilities,

Intramural Program Is Launched

There are at the present time several intramural activities taking place in conjunction with Highline College. Included in these sports are Bowling, Basketball, and Tennis.

Bowling is being held at the Olympic Lanes on Fridays. There are 10 teams entered in the competition, one of which is a team consisting of faculty members from Highline College. On each team there is at least one girl. Each team bowls two games at every session. The games are decided on three points. Trophies will be given to the winning team, to high men's total, and also to high women's total. The bowling competition is expected to finish before the College Final Exams in December.

Intramural Assistant for Bowling is Jon Ann Stecker.

There is an intramural basketball program going on at the College. A disappointing 10-12 boys is the number of participants now engaged in this program. The problem stems from the fact that there is a difficulty in getting use of the Glacier High School gym. The basketball teams meet on Wednesday and Fridays.

Intramural Assistant for Basketball is Bill Turner.

Kiwanis Gives

Two Scholarships

Two $150 scholarships to the Highline College were presented by Ben Bradley, president of the Kiwanis Club, on Tuesday, October 2, at a special Kiwanis Club meeting.

An Evergreen High School graduate, Joseph Jadick, received one scholarship, and a Foster High School graduate, Jasik Ripai, received the other.

The scholarships provide for one year's tuition to the college. The Kiwanis Club hopes to make this a yearly program. Students who wish to try for a Kiwanis scholarship should contact Mrs. Carol Hall, chairman of the Scholarship Committee at Highline College.

Only incoming freshmen are eligible. One scholarship is granted for a high school graduate from the Highline School District, and one from South Central district each year.

the library has 2500 books, 102 periodicals and five newspapers.

The book center is open four evenings a week, Monday through Thursday, from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m.

Woodward Has Wide Experience

Mr. Woodward

Mr. Everett Woodward, Highline College athletic director, is a man of many athletic talents.

Mr. Woodward graduated from High School in Waco, Texas. He then moved to Washington, where he attended Central Washington Teachers College. At Central Mr. Woodward majored in Health and Physical Education. He was also involved in the YMCA Physical Fitness Program.

His first teaching job was at Sunnyside School here in the Highline. At Sunnyside he taught P.E., and coached.

Mr. Woodward worked for Bonings during the Second World War.

He next moved to teach at Snohomish High School where he coached and taught. While at Snohomish High Mr. Woodward had champions in basketball, and track. Also he started cross-country, as a sports event at Snohomish. He was credited with instigating cross-country as a high school sporting event. Today there is a trophy known as the Woodward Cross-Country Trophy, named after Mr. Woodward. He is called by some "the father of cross-country."

After Snohomish High he moved to the University of Washington, where he was on the staff for one year. He then moved on to Highline High School, where he instigated their Gymnastics program. While at Highline High his gymnastics team won first two state championships. Mr. Woodward then attended Seattle University for three years, was involved in a program for teaching P.E. At Seattle U. he was tennis coach, and had a good record.

Basketball Drills In Full Swing

Highline College basketball drills opened yesterday at the Highline High School gymnasium under the direction of Coach Jack Hubbard.

Players have been in training for about the past month to get in shape for the coming season by running, jumping and a variety of basketball drills.

The Thunderbirds will play in a league with the following teams: Centralia Junior College, Clark College of Vancouver, Wash., Columbia Basin College, Lower Columbia Junior College, Everett Junior College, Grays Harbor College, Olympic College of Bremerton, Skagit Valley College, Wenatchee Valley College, and Yakima Valley Junior College.

Highline College will also play some big time teams in non-league games when they encounter the Pacific Lutheran University Junior Varsity, Seattle Pacific College Junior Varsity, Seattle University Frosh, and the University of Washington Frosh.

SPORTS GAB

By DICK PETERSON

Sports Editor, Highline College Thunder-Word

Very shortly the Highline College Thunderbirds varsity basketball team will make history when they play the first game in the College's short existence as they meet the Seattle University Frosh on December 1 in a non-conference game.

This game with Seattle University's "Little Papooses" will mean that the Thunderbirds will have to play one of their best games of the season if they are to start off in the victory column.

A couple of handicaps that will plague the Thunderbirds are: (1) When the Thunderbirds go into this game they will have had two weeks of practice, the Seattle "U" Frosh will have had about six weeks to get prepared. For some reason junior colleges aren't allowed to begin basketball drills until November 15, other colleges and universities are allowed to begin hoop practice around October 15. Reason (2) The Thunderbirds have just started practice, so no one knows what their possibilities are, but it is known that the "Little Papooses" have a couple of boys six-eight and a couple of boys around six-five; this could prove to be a disadvantage because I haven't noticed any six-eight giants roaming around our campus. Oh well, that's the way the ball bounces.

The high-riding Columbia Basin College football team is rated number two in the nation in the junior college grid poll ratings. The Columbia Basin team's success is due to the outstanding play of several boys from the Puget Sound area. Among the outstanding players from this area are Randy Bradley of Kent-Meridian, Stan Bishop of Ingraham High, Ken Chelin of Shoreline, and Lee Muller, formerly of Ballard. The only mar on Basin's record is a 13-13 with Wenatchee Valley. This team is rated number 19 in the small college rankings. Columbia Basin without much trouble should clinch the state Junior College Conference and stand a good chance to get the nod to play in the Junior College Rose Bowl. Columbia Basin also holds the honor of tromping the University of Idaho freshmen team by the lopsided score of 42-7.

The conference standings as of last week were:

Columbia Basin	5	0	1	Everett	2	4	0
Wenatchee Valley	4	0	2	Grays Harbor	2	3	1
Olympic College	3	3	0	Lower Columbia	0	6	0
Yakima Valley	3	3	0

Olympic College's basketball team received a stunning blow with the death of the coach, Phil Pesco. Mr. Pesco had been basketball coach for Olympic College for a great number of years and his death also will be a loss to the rest of the conference as well as to the Olympic team.

Night School Decentralizes

On any week-day evening there are over six hundred students attending classes on the Highline College and Glacier High School campus. Highline College classes are also being conducted at Mt. Rainier High School, Highline High School, Sylvester Junior High, and Woodside School.

Dr. Shirley Gordon, Director of Curricula, stated in an interview that next semester classes may also be taught at Evergreen High School and there will be a larger number of classes offered at Mt. Rainier and other schools.

Highline College plans eventually to hold most of its night school classes at local schools instead of on the college campus. This will relieve congestion and students will have the opportunity to attend classes at schools that are near to their homes.

Classes to be added to next semester's night school curriculum will include classes in English and Citizenship for the Foreign Born, General Business Law 250, Economic Geography 110, and Anthropology 10. There is also a performing drama class for which students may register next semester.

Secretarial Courses Are Varied

Business mathematics, business English, typing, business machines, and shorthand are the business classes held in Room 405 of Highline College. Mrs. Mary-Elizabeth Gibson, instructor, says that plans are underway to obtain more computer and adding machines to fulfill the demand for training in the business machine classes.

Many of the men registered in business classes plan to put to use in their own businesses what they have learned. The majority of the girls will do secretarial work when their training is completed here.

The bookstore is offering 50 per cent refund on old books and 60 per cent on new books. This is a big discount. Highline is one of the few schools allowing this much.

"Y.D." Club Hears Candidates

The Young Democrats Club of Highline College welcomed three political candidates in Room 402 on Tuesday, Oct. 23, 1962. Before an audience which included students from the 1 o'clock speech and political science classes, Curt Witherby and Andy Hess, legislative candidates, and Norman Ackley, incumbent candidate for state representative, verbally viewed some of the ideas and ideals of the political candidate.

The Halloween Dance which took place in the Glacier High School cafeteria on October 27, turned out to be the "social highlight" of this quarter. Over one hundred and fifty students attended. Costumes were colorful and authentic.

Legislative candidate Andy Hess explained that politicians particularly must be aware of the minority's problems when an action will benefit the majority. A legislator must be objective and informed to find the correct solutions to problems.

The Greater Federal Way, Fife, and Midway businessmen wish to let the people of the area know that the old Sea-Tac Hiway, (the section that runs south from the Spanish Castle intersection to the Tacoma Bridge) is now accessible from the bridge as it was before the new Freeway was opened; so it again runs into Tacoma.

Last Season In Review

Athletes and followers of sports at Highline College are eagerly awaiting the coming season of sports for '63-64 and hope this season will be even greater than last.

Looking back to last year, those followers who were on hand will never forget the first time Highline took to the basketball court. Although Highline lost its first hoop game by the score of 84-90 to the Seattle "U" Frosh, no fan will forget the great shooting duel between Seattle's Dick Graul and Highline's Dick Weeks. Graul totaled 32 for the game and Weeks netted 24. On December 17, 1962 after losing four games, Highline won its first basketball game when it defeated Pacific Lutheran "U" JV by the score of 81-68. Dick Weeks led Highline with 25 points, followed by Gred Wilson with 20 and Larry Anderson with 19. On January 9, 1963 Highline College made its debut in the State Junior College Conference with a 76-67 win over West-see Junior College. Larry Anderson paced Highline with 21 points in this win. On February 15 Highline met the champion-to-be Columbia Basin and in probably the most exciting game of the season, Highline fell by the score of 59-56 in a game that was not decided until the last ten seconds. On March 3, 1963 Highline closed out its first season of basketball by defeating Lower Columbia College by the score of 75-64. Highline thus finished the conference season with a record of 5 wins and 10 defeats and for the season has 6 wins and 19 defeats. One sidelight that was established, Highline failed to win a game away from home.

In early March the Highline College tracksters moved into their second year of track competition when they routed Centralia Junior College by the score of 68-41. Highline captured nine of thirteen events. Double winners for Highline were Dick Layzell, Morry Williams, and Jim Schuppel. A highlight of the track season were Dick Layzell, Morry Williams, and Jim Schuppel. A highlight of the track season were Dick Layzell, Morry Williams, and Jim Schuppel. Intramural sports such as golf, bowling, tennis and basketball also were active on the sports scene.

Basket Season Opens Dec. 4

By Dick Peterson

The Highline College Thunderbirds will open their '63-64 basketball season on December 4 when they square off against the Seattle University Frosh Papooses at the new Tyee High School Gym, which will be the Thunderbirds home court.

This will be the second year of collegiate basketball for Highline which compiled a season record last year of 6 wins and 19 defeats. At the present time it appears only one starter will be back from last year's squad. This is Larry Anderson who was second in team scoring and saw action at a forward spot. Two other starters from last year's squad, Ron Knias and Fred Miller, are on campus, but have not decided whether to play in the coming season.

The Thunderbirds will meet several outstanding teams this season, among those are the Seattle University Frosh, which boasts one of the best freshmen teams in the nation, Seattle Pacific College Jr. Varsity, and the University of Washington Frosh which has the big high school star from last year, Gordy Harris, who stands a mere 6'11" and scored 34 points a game for Tenino High School.

The Thunderbirds will open Conference play on January 3 when they travel to Skagit Valley to clash with the Cardinals. The Thunderbirds play in the State Junior College Conference which is divided into two divisions, a Northern and a Southern. Highline is a member of the North, along with Columbia Basin, Skagit Valley, Everett, Yakima and Wenatchee.

The South consists of Grays Harbor, Olympic, Clark, Centralia and Lower Columbia. The winners of each division play two out of three for the championship. Highline will play 15 conference games and either nine or ten non-conference games. The Thunderbirds finished league play last season with five wins and ten defeats and were ninth in an 11 team league.

Spokane Has College

The new Spokane Community College has chosen Sam Dimico as its first student body president. The college plans to start a college paper soon.

ODD-NEWS:

Ralph Hayward, a student at Highline College last year, is turning out for basketball at Seattle University this year. Greg Wilson, starting center for the Thunderbirds last year, is playing at Western Washington this year. The Columbia Basin Hawks are having another winning football season. Their record so far is 3 wins, 0 losses and 1 tie.

Teams Tied In Bowling Meet

"One chance in twenty-five hundred." These were the odds the college mathematics department predicted for two bowling teams to tie for total pins after two games of bowling, but true to Highline tradition, these odds were shattered as the top two Intramural Bowling teams battled it out in a showdown series to determine the possible which team should be in first-place standings. Both teams were baffled but not surprised as the total pin figure showed that each team had won one game and had tied for total pins. This gave each of the teams one and one-half points toward the first-place trophies but still did not decide which team was the better of the two.

During the same period the "Alley: Oops!" won all three of their points and moved into the weekly first-place position by a mere edge of one-half of a point. John Eck held the high series total for two games with a 371 series. Donna Lamoreaux bowled a 360 series for the two games which was a new high series for the women's division of the league. All-in-all, the Intramural Bowling League has developed into a tight and interesting race.

All Sciences Merge In New Club

In order to present a better program for those interested in science, Mr. Warnock, advisor for the science group, has decided to incorporate the smaller science groups under the heading of Highline College Science Club. This will make it possible to obtain well-known speakers from many scientific fields because of the greater opportunity afforded them to speak before a larger group.

The new Science Club will consist of the following groups: Physics, Chemistry, Biology, CB Radio, Mathematics and possibly Data Processing.

The Science Club, in the very near future, expects to sponsor field trips to sights of scientific interest. One of the first field trips will possibly be to the Boeing Scientific Research Laboratory's Nuclear Accelerator. The club will plan more trips when specific interest is shown in other fields. Those interested in joining the new Science Club should contact Mr. Warnock for further information.
