FACULTY TO BE BORED
FOR JUNE COMMENCEMENT

At Smith College

A traditional ceremony of graduation is held at Smith College in Northampton. Massachusetts.

The ceremony will consist of honor students and members of the faculty and administration.

A procession will include the honor students, followed by the faculty, and finally the administration. The ceremony will begin with the playing of the national anthem and conclude with the presentation of diplomas.

The students will then be called forward to receive their diplomas from the administration.

A Baccalaureate Address

In memory of a loved one

The Baccalaureate Address is a special event held for gradu-atating students. It is an opportunity for students to reflect on their academic journey and reflect on their future.

The address will be given by a member of the faculty, and will focus on the importance of taking risks and pursuing one's passions.

Letters To The Editor

In last week's column, a letter was written questioning the value of a college education.

The writer suggested that colllege graduates are less likely to find employment and earn higher salaries than those who are not college graduates.

I don't think the writer is completely accurate. While it is true that college graduates
may have a higher earning potential than those without a degree, the value of a college education extends beyond financial gain.

The education received at college can provide valuable skills and knowledge that can be applied in various careers.

Thoughts on Graduation

Several members of the faculty and graduating class have expressed similar thoughts about graduation, and it seems appropriate for me to do the same. I have enjoyed my stay at Highline College. I have enjoyed the faculty, although the last year will not be easy to remember when I am through. I hope I have not always been a burden, and I hope I have been a help.

When I entered this college, I am sure I had no idea of what I was in for, and I still don't seem to understand it. But I am glad I have been here, and I hope it has been of some use to me. I have enjoyed the faculty and students.

Thoughts on the Future

I have no idea of what is in store for me in the future. I have no idea of what I am going to do, and I have no idea of what I am going to be. I am glad I have been here, and I hope it has been of some use to me. I have enjoyed the faculty and students.

Contest Winners Selected

Four Students Win Awards

The winners were announced publically by Dr. Mary Goodwin, head of the Department of Public Instruction. Dr. Goodwin stated that the winners were chosen based on their outstanding contributions to the community and their success in various fields. She emphasized the importance of recognizing and rewarding dedication and hard work, and encouraged all students to strive for excellence.

The Department of Public Instruction annually selects four students who have shown exceptional promise and dedication to their studies and community service. The winners are chosen based on a comprehensive evaluation of their academic achievements, community involvement, and personal qualities.

The four winners were:

1. John Smith - for his outstanding contributions to the local library and his exceptional academic performance.
2. Jane Doe - for her leadership in community service projects and her dedication to environmental conservation.
3. Robert Johnson - for his contributions to scientific research and his innovative approach to problem-solving.
4. Emily Brown - for her exceptional performance in arts and her leadership in cultural events.

Dr. Goodwin congratulated the winners and expressed her hope that their success would inspire others to pursue excellence in their own endeavors.

Chemistry Session

Offered in Summer

A two-week session in Chemistry will be offered at Deep Valley College this summer. This session is designed to provide an in-depth study of chemical principles, with a focus on practical applications and problem-solving. Students will have the opportunity to work closely with experienced instructors and to engage in hands-on experiments.

Chemistry sessions are an excellent way to refresh or reinforce knowledge or to explore new areas of interest. Whether you are a science major looking to strengthen your foundation or a curious learner seeking new insights, this session promises to be an enriching experience.

The registration deadline is June 1st, and spaces are limited. Early registration is encouraged to secure a spot.

Cribbage

No need to travel or return home in order to share a game of cribbage. Active and retired savings and loan members share the following rules for playing cribbage.

Cribbage is a game of strategy andmemory, played with a standard deck of playing cards. The object of the game is to score points by forming runs and sequences, and by capturing the pegs on the cribbage board. The game is typically played by two or more players, with scores kept by placing pegs on eight pegs arranged in a square on the board.

The game begins with each player dealt six cards, and the player with the highest value (2) leads. The objective is to form runs and sequences by placing cards on the board, and to capture the pegs by placing the correct number of cards to represent the value of the pegs.

The game continues in a similar fashion, with players taking turns to lay down cards and capture pegs. The player who captures all the pegs wins the game, and the points are tallied to determine the winner. Cribbage is a fun and challenging game that can be enjoyed by players of all ages.
Commencement Set for June 6

Last spring's commencement for the first time saw the graduation of students from both Highline College and Burien High School. The ceremony is being held at the Highline College field house.

Jennifer L. Ho, high school 1942, and David Ellsworth, high school 1942, will be given diplomas at the commencement on Sunday, June 6, at 2 p.m. at the Highline College field house. This is the first commencement for both schools since they merged in 1942.

The ceremony will feature the presentation of diplomas by Dr. M. A. Allan, president of Highline College, and Mrs. William L. Mason, vice president for academic affairs. Other officers present will be Mr. Charles Carpenter, dean of instruction; Mr. Lloyd Messmer, dean of students; and Mr. Lloyd Messmer, dean of students.

Highline College Students Come From Many Lands

There is a mixture of nationalities amongst the students at Highline College, because the school is located in an area with a large number of immigrants. Here I will discuss some of the students who have come from different countries:

- Myron D. Strandberg from Hime Kwai, China
- Nirat Mabanglo from the Philippines
- Tony from Sonma, Cuba
- Eva Otteson from Norway
- Cosmos Myoglov from Latvia
- Marc Puninski from Cuba
- Guna from Latvia
- Rudy Rollolmo from Cuba

These students are just a few examples of the diversity found at Highline College. They represent a wide range of cultures and nationalities, making the college a truly international community.
