Film Series Is A Hit

The Thunder College Film Series opened its second week on Thursday, February 25, at 11 o'clock with experimental films. The first film on the program was "A Chair for a Child," a simple ballet about a boy and his mastery of a wheelchair. This was followed by "Fiddle De Dee," a film of moving patterns, in color, synchronized with a musical score.

"Neighbors" was the third film on the program. The film illustrated how two friendly neighbors could come to blows over mutual possession of a flower. Next on the program came "La Poulette Grise," an animated version of a French Canadian lullaby about a hen that changes color and nests in a different place in each verse.

"The Adventures of an Aster" was the fourth film on the program. The film employed authentic Indian ceremonial masks to present the Indian tale of "The Zina." On Thursday, March 4, the Series presented its third program, "Mexican Architecture," "Music and History Through the Ages," and "The Adventures of an Aster." Any film not previously scheduled for the program was the fifth selection. The final film employed authentic Indian ceremonial masks to present the Indian tale of the "Zion's Necklace."

The Women

Dear Editor,

Joan in another telephone call to another campus is to provide women in the future with a way to solve the problem of finding leadership for their concerns and activities. This system is based on the idea that women should be able to organize and participate in campus activities without the restrictions and discrimination that have been perpetuated in the past.

Questions On Food

On Campus

by Ten Reardon

"Poetry is too high... you don't get what you pay for." This is a line from a poem by Robert Frost. The remarks that have been voiced on campus when students speak about prices, portion and quality of food in the cafeteria reflect the students' and faculty's opinion of Highline College. Some of the students appear not to be satisfied with just voicing their opinion, but have tried to organize a protest of the cafeteria's facilities.

At 5:30 p.m. it was seen that some of the complaints the students have levied at the cafeteria might be substantiated.

After taking a closer look at the problem, one sees that all of these boxed sandwiches that the staff of the food service is not prepared to serve, at the prices charged at our cafeteria are at a loss, since all those charged by all other colleges in the state of Washington, the options available at Highline College are limited in variety and quality. The portion sizes are also standing among some students in regard to Highline College getting reimbursement for its lunch program. The Federal School Lunch Program gives subsidy to lunch programs in schools that operate a kindergarten through fifth grade program. Four years college and community colleges do not qualify.

Many of the students compare the food, such as hamburgers and French fries, to that which they buy at their favorite drive-in. In doing this they feel they receive the same amount of food for lower prices at the drive-in as they do at the cafeteria.

In the preparation of a hamburger that are served on campus the cows serve one-sixth of a pound per hamburger, while the drive-in that feature the hamburgers average one-sixth of a pound per hamburger.

In order to make the students happier the cafeteria started serving 218 pound hamburgers on the 8th of March, but these hamburgers are of the one-sixth pound portion instead of the former one-sixth pound portion.

Who believes in this current police brutality myth? The recent efforts to frame innocent men is glaringly coming to an end. Police Chief Frank Stimson has repeatedly denied the claims of assault on those arrested.

T-Birds Win Last 3 League Contests

by Larry Leonard

The Highline College Thunderbirds have picked up three consecutive wins in their last three seasons of the season. In their first game, the T-Birds defeated the Yakima Valley Indians in an overtime contest 77-74 and in the second and third contests, the T-Birds got a pair from Shoreline, the first 89-64 and the second 60-68.

In the game which was played with Yakima on February 27, the Thunderbirds needed an early lead and were ahead at halftime 38-30. Bill Chilman was the big scorer for the T-Birds in the first half, as he put 20 of Highline's 30 first-half points.

In the second half, the Thunderbirds cooled off somewhat as the Indians began to put on the pressure, and with less than 10 minutes gone in the second half, Yakima tied the score 58-58. From that point until the final minute of the game, it was a close game, but with one left to go and the score 64-62, Bill Chilman put a basket making the score 66-64 in Highline's favor. The Indians missed their shot after taking the ball down court and Highline controlled the ball. With 18 seconds left on the clock, Jack Gladston put the ball up for Yakima and layup tied the score at 68-68 at the end of regulation play.

The overtime period was dominated all the way by Highline as they scored 14 points in the overtime period while Yakima scored 11.

On March 2, the Highline College T-Birds played host to Shoreline in a game that saw the T-Birds leading at half-time by a lag 61-82. In the second half, Shoreline played much better ball as they outscored the Thunderbirds 44-52. Highline's rebounding may have been a factor that helped their cause as they out rebounded the Thunderbirds 43-44. Highline's rebounding may have been a banner that helped their cause as they out rebounded the Thunderbirds 43-44. Highline's rebounding may have been a banner that helped their cause as they out rebounded the Thunderbirds 43-44.

The field goal category, Shoreline's bettered Highline by shooting 63% from the field while the T-Birds shot 49% and 45% per cent. Shoreline also had a better record at the free line shooting 83% and 38% per cent while Highline hit 72% and 56% per cent, but when the hooter sounded the scoreboard read 92-94 with Highline having the edge.

On Saturday, March 6, the Thunderbirds met Shoreline once again in their final league contest on Shoreline's home court.

The T-Birds had their difficulties not being able to get moving, and Shoreline took the lead, but Bill Chilman brought it back and rebounding improved leading to Highline's 43-60 halftime lead. In the second half, Highline continued their domination of the game as they outscored Shoreline 55-45 in the second half.

On March 9, the Thunderbirds met Shoreline once again in their final league contest on Shoreline's home court.

The T-Birds had their difficulties not being able to get moving, and Shoreline took the lead, but Bill Chilman brought it back and rebounding improved leading to Highline's 43-60 halftime lead. In the second half, Highline continued their domination of the game as they outscored Shoreline 55-45 in the second half.

In the last minute of the T-Birds vs. Thunderbirds, it was mentioned that there was a possibility for upsets in both leagues, and that is what happened.

Upsets eliminated two previously unbeaten teams. The Eagles, a high scoring and seemingly unbeatable team fell before a strong and determined South Side five, 88-82. Jerry & Pacemakers made up for an earlier loss by blasting

In the Locker Room

The termination of the 1980-81 basketball season is once again upon us and with the close of the season comes the time to look back on three years of T-Bird basketball history.

In 1983-84, the Thunderbirds compiled a 6-19 record for the season and a 64% average per game, which is an 8.2 per game increase over their previous season average.

The 1984-85 season was a particularly good season for individuals in terms of the team's average scores and individual game records were broken. The individual game records were actually matched by Bill Chilman who scored 49 points in a single game, demolishing the old record of 33 and hit 33 field goals in a single game, breaking the previous record of 8.

The 1985-86 season has been a season to climax all seasons. A majority of the starters have been veterans, which explains part of the success of this year's team, and all the credit does not go to any one player, letterman or not, but to the team as a whole.

As of March 2, the T-Birds have scored a total of 1898 points for a 73.1 per game average and a 1.5 per game increase over the season record. During the 1984-85 season, the T-Birds had a total of 1383 points during the season for a 71.6 average per game, as five Individual season records and three individual game records were broken.

For most of the game the Thunderbirds met South Side for the championship. For an edge loss by blasting the champion's game was the high point as well as the final quarter South Side made it 58-51.

The 1986-87 basketball season has been a unique one, not only for the Thunderbirds, but for other teams. The T-Birds have possibly played more overtime games and more close games this season than in any of the other previous seasons. Kazemi Gives Views on U.S.

Kazemi, a recent university student at Highline College, has recently been interviewed by The Thunderbird. He was asked about the most pressing problems facing Iran. Kazemi answered, "Inflation." The next subject was United States foreign aid. Kazemi asserted, "Present foreign aid to Iran is not as useful because it is mostly in the form of military aid instead of economic aid and education." Kazemi noted that the Peace Corps was good because it worked with education. Rather than gifts or loans of United States dollars, Kazemi preferred industry that could help Iran solve its problems and become self-sufficient.

When asked what the United States meant to Iran, Kazemi had more to say: "My Iranians think that the United States is perfect and has little to learn from other countries, which might be true to some extent. But this is a false idea which must disappear. When a country has been defeated, you have nowhere to go and in that case you have nowhere to go or learn.

"The Persian civilization is at its climax about 2600 years ago. The United States is early at its climax. You will continue as a great civilization only if you preserve your pioneer spirit in your country."
