One Face of Highline College

Dear Editor:

A few days ago, during the midst of my studies, I was reflecting on the nature of a college campus. The multitude of students, the hustle and bustle of daily life, and the sense of community that permeates the institution are all integral parts of the college experience. However, there is another side to the campus that is often overlooked.

I have noticed that the semester begins with a flurry of activity, as students settle into their routines and start to engage with their courses. Yet, as the weeks pass, a different pattern emerges. The campus gradually transforms into a veritable "butt" grave of wrappers, cigarette wrappers, and other litter. This is not an isolated phenomenon; it is a reflection of the broader issue of littering.

The litterbug, a creature known to frequent the campus, is a harbinger of pollution. These creatures, equipped with an array of tools ranging from gum wrappers to empty coffee cups, move across the dusty surfaces of the campus, leaving behind a trail of waste. This not only mars the aesthetic appeal of the campus but also poses a threat to the health of the environment.

It is crucial that we recognize the impact of our actions on the environment and take steps to address this issue. As a community, we should strive to improve the cleanliness of our campus and set an example for others to follow. Let us work together to create a cleaner, more sustainable campus that we can all be proud of. By doing so, we not only enhance the environment but also foster a sense of responsibility and community among our fellow students.

Sincerely,

A part of the American education system has moved into the classroom as a way of providing a better understanding of the military life. This is being accomplished through the NROTC program, which presents an opportunity for students to gain valuable experience while also earning a scholarship.

The NROTC program offers scholarships for students to attend college while also providing them with the opportunity to serve in the military. This is a great way to support our nation's armed forces and provide our country with dedicated and trained service members.

Jim Sharp Wins NROTC Scholarship

James Sharp, a student at Highline College, has been selected as a scholarship winner through the NROTC program. This is a great opportunity for Jim to further his education and gain valuable experience in the military.

Art Students Compete in Inservice Show

The Art Department of Highline College has been invited to participate in the First College Art Show. This is a great opportunity for our students to showcase their talent and gain exposure in the art world.

The college's entries will be juried by Mr. R. Gwin and Mr. H. Constantine, and will represent the college's fine art students. These works will compete against other schools and universities in the state.

Art scholarships totaling at least $50 will be awarded this year by the Crossroads Merchandising Association. A commission of 25% instead of the usual 20% will be deducted from all the pieces which are sold for this show only.

T-Bird Golfers

Split Matches

The Highline College golfers have played two matches this spring, each of which was played on April 2, the "Highline High School" and the Skagit Valley.

The Spring Purse Story shows the split matches were: Kwast-Adams 6-0, Kretz-Harrison 7-5, Sanford-Harrison 6-2, and Buchanan-Harrison 7-6.

The History of Tennis goes back to the 19th century, when the French first introduced it as "les petits jeux." Tennis was first introduced in the United States by Mary Hanning, Director of Athletics at the University of Washington, in 1924.

Spring Calls for Wild Colors

by Addie Jones

Women's spring and summer fashions have gone mad in design, color, and make. There is no one most popular design or cut back. Women's apparel was taken from the fashion scene by Yves Saint Laurent in 1966 brought in knee-length back. Corsets brought in the jump suit where length means to an all-time high.

The soft feminine look is enjoying a long-time stay. It has captured the fashion of the spring and summer through ruffles, peasant, prairie and lace, ruffles. The line of fashion follows the soft free-flying curve. The dress and A-shorts are tops this spring. They were made to flatter any figure.

Then again the mood is past and the waistline is the empress waistline.

There is a fad on the fashion scene for the swimming suit. There are many designs and styles. Among the most popular are the one-piece suit and the two-piece suit. The one-piece suit is the most popular. It is simple, comfortable, and practical. The two-piece suit is the most popular. It is simple, comfortable, and practical.

The swimming suit is the most popular. It is simple, comfortable, and practical. The swimming suit is the most popular. It is simple, comfortable, and practical.

Spanish, French, English Influence

Today's fashions are influenced by three major looks—the Spanish look, the French look, and the English look.

Spain is influencing today's fashion—through its rich and romantic past and through the work of its designers (Courrèges, one of the most famous Spanish designers)—the concise tailoring (as found in the Toreador costume), fine in silk and lace, lattice-work fabrics. The cape comes directly from Spain. Likewise, today's favored bottom trend—the emerald-green, peplum, peplum—comes from Spain also. The Spanish influence is also shown in the fitted-waist jacket trend, now very popular. Also from Spain comes the flaring with an orchid or peonied fabric, most popular in evening wear.

The French contribution to today's fashion is the pretty look of ruffles and, to an extent, lace also. Paris influenced evening wear, and after-five dresses display little of ruffles. In lounge wear the flared pants with ankle suits and the op-striped pajamas are major examples of French ruffles. The clean look of bols are also found on the Paris scene.

From England we have the London look—Mary Quant's Angela Carter's and the Mod Look.

The Mod Look is the fad with today's teenagers—check-patterned suits with wild matching shirts flowing from underneath a jumper or skirt; the beaded raincoat and straight hair accompany this look.

Sportswear Offers Variety

by Addie Jones

The most popular words in fashion are—the same ones we've been hearing for years—short shorts, Bermuda, pedal pushers, and long pants of any color. The latest fashion in pants is the bell-bottom ankle-length style. Bell-bottom pants come in the hipster as well as regular waist styles. Bell-bottoms are on again.

Also on the past scene is the re-occurring fashion of the pant suit—the trend that was competing with skirt suits last year in Paris. The pant suit also came in the drop-crotch style.

Further news on the past scene is the return of the pant suit. The jacket style that is most popular with this trend is the long-waisted jacket which is seconded by the blazer jacket. The pant style also comes in the drop-crotch style.

Sportswear counts come in new pretied fashions. Co-ordinates and separates too, come in a wide variety.

The newest fashion in pants is the sailor-collared jacket. The jacket style that is most popular with this trend is the sailor-collared jacket with the blazer jacket. The pant style also comes in the drop-crotch style.

Spring Mod Points To Stripes in Gay Colors

Say, man, have you seen the newest, boldest look in suits this spring? Well here it is. The new refinements in design by Don Loper. The jacket is pure tailored lines with contrasting ruffles at the chest, cuffs and neckline. The ruffles may or may not contrast with the jacket. The jacket can be worn with ease with either matching slacks or with slacks that match the contrasting color of the suit.

Fashion Show Planned Tuesday

A Bee Line Fashion Show will be held Tuesday, April 30, at 12 noon at the Country Club Hotel, 4th Avenue, Bellevue.

Students and faculty are invited. A fried chicken luncheon will be held at 11:30 a.m., the show at 12 noon. A $3 admission will be charged. Tickets in advance are $3.00; $3.50 at the door.

Wayne Smith poses in a striped blue and white sportswear suit. This suit is made in gay colors with a sailor collared jacket.
Beware of that creep, men:
At that moment to capture
The utmost attention of your heart
That made your mind
To rest at ease. I promise
And produced a flutter
Nylons will no longer
Beware no more I assure you
Want from you to depart, or
For they now come in a fashion design
Made especially for you to please.
These patterns are of the double outline:
The unbuttoned diamond of nylon hose
The creeping vine about legs do now
The lizard crack is guaranteed
To put your mind back in wheel.
No longer are nylon sneaky things
For now you know of the pleasure they bring.
Now there's only one more thing for you to remember.
They vow to follow you through the spring
And summer and will see you, again, no doubt
In September.

There's no substitute for good grooming to set off Spring's fashions.

Men's Fashions
On Campus

by Addie Jones

The variety of men's shops today are attempting to sell the "casual look." Full minds seem to be the original of the current rage, warn dressers. It looks like this type of sweater will continue to be smart this spring. These sweaters are worn in the three-quarter and short-sleeve cuts.

Meanwhile, the dark-blended socks and shoes are the thing for school and games. Most of the young men still stick to their sneakers with the high-colored and the bright accent shades for Spring and Summer wear.

In shirts, as always, Pendleton, De Vil, the new high-colored Arrows, and the new Madras "blowouts" are selling like past. The India Madras "blowouts" are high with the guys, but low with the Wednesday washday mothers. Many a wash has been destroyed by these yarn-shedding fabrics.

In coats and jackets, a wider variety has been seen. For spring, at least, the limited supply is enlisted for its own taste, except to be very popular in the closet, as the ties. Occasionally a tip is seen by some bourgeois working man. An asset is rarely seen by some temperament of Amos Burke. The look this year tends to be casual, with shirt unbuttoned. Until girls start wearing unclad will be out of fashion news.

Color Adds To Men's Fashions

Patterned designs are slowly creeping into the male fashion arena, patterns that are full of color (somewhat dull). New in news for the ties are color-ful plaid, checks and stripes, the diamond design plus many others. These necks are geared to match the new overall trend in male fashions. The center of the belt matches the new general trend in male fashions.

Glasses have become an integral part of the new spring costume and they can be both satisfying, too. Nowadays they can be bought in an angle of navy denim, air conditioned by eyelets, etc. There are round sunglasses, square sunglasses and many others of any geometric angle desired.

The necktie is fast becoming the season's biggest accessory item. The dramatic dog collar style will become the fashion favorite.
