Dr. Allan Receives Students

In Pacific Bank

By Clay White

Dr. Allan, President of Highline College, received a visit yesterday from a group of students from the University of Washington. The students were interested in the peace movement and wished to meet with Dr. Allan to discuss the situation.

One-Man Drummer

Skated for Dec.

By Clay White

The one-man drumming performance by Dee, the one-man skater, was a hit on the campus. Dee's performance was highly acclaimed by the students, who were impressed by his skill and creativity.

The portion of the United States which we are now experiencing is one of the most critical in our history. It is our country and our home, and we must do whatever it takes to win the war against Viet-Nam. The policy has been to support the free-world armies and to aid them in whatever way we can. There have also been the free-volunteers and the free-blood drives.

The Thalia Symphony will be presented on a concert at the College on Saturday, November 13. The concert will feature the works of Mozart and Beethoven. The concert will begin at 8:00 PM and will be under the direction of Dr. Allan.

Highline College Management has issued a "PFOClamation on Viet-Nam" which "supported" the United States government's position. The proclamation was made on Friday, November 5, and was signed by President Mark Osborn, Vice-President Mark Gilmire, and Dean Albert Gagnon.

The proclamation stated that the college management "supports the war in Viet-Nam and opposes it." The management also stated that they would "not have, for the time being, any students from Viet-Nam in attendance at the college."
TODAY'S YOUTH AND VIETNAM

expect many students to realize that there is hopelessly engulfed in emo-

This was illustrated in the discussion of the Vietnam war, where the Student Body, or does this responsibility extend to the administration as well? Does the publication have a role in promoting understanding and respect for differing viewpoints or in maintaining a stance on one side of an issue?

Dear Editor:

I have heard of a document called the Bill of Rights, but the United States Constitution is something entirely different. It is a series of fundamental principles and policies that are guaranteed to all citizens. What is the difference between the two? How do they relate to our daily lives? I would appreciate it if you could clarify these concepts for me.

Sincerely,

Clod Identity

Dear Editor:

I have noticed a change in the publication of the Clod. It used to be more humorous and engaging, but now it seems to focus on serious issues. I feel that the Clod should be a platform for students to express themselves and have fun. What do you think about this change in direction?

Sincerely,

Crime is not the national crisis, and the solution is not the FBI, according to Mr. William Bennett, Assistant Director of the Peace Corps. Mr. Bennett, who recently completed his service with the Peace Corps, appeared at Highline College last week.

Mr. Bennett stated that the FBI and the courts, in their efforts to crack down on crime, are not effective because they are not addressing the root causes of crime. He pointed out that the FBI has a limited budget and cannot investigate all cases of crime. Mr. Bennett also noted that the courts are overwhelmed by the number of cases they must handle and are not able to give individual attention to each case.

Mr. Bennett suggested that a coordinated effort is needed to solve the problem of crime. He proposed that the FBI and the courts work together to develop a comprehensive plan that addresses the underlying causes of crime. He also recommended that the government invest more resources in education and training programs to help people avoid crime.

Vista Volunteers Featured on Nov. 4

Edward P. Hansen, 22, is a Vista Worker at Highline College and the Swedish Health Association. His duties include working with the Midwife's Association and the Scandinavian community.

The Vista Program is a new project of the Peace Corps and is designed to bring volunteers to serve in America's communities. The volunteers work on projects that are of interest to the community, and they are paid a small stipend to cover their expenses.

Traffic Problem Discussed by State, Co., City

The three agencies having jurisdiction over traffic in the Kent area, the State of Washington, King County, and the City of Kent, are working on a plan to solve the traffic problem in the area. The Kent Police are working on a plan to widen the 240th Street between South 210th and South 218th.

The plan is to widen the street to four lanes and a sidewalk. The plan is expected to cost approximately $1 million and is expected to be completed in two years.

Mr. Hansen commented on his work with the community. He said, "It has been a great experience working with the community. I have learned a lot about the people and the customs of the community."
T-BIRDS TAKE STATE TITLE

As T-Birds (Thunderbirds) captured the state championship in the Olympic Valley 32 points with Virgil Ayers, the Thunderbirds lacked some depth because Milt Stovall, it's number two, was hospitalized with a broken leg. Steve Strickland finished strong. Steve Strickland took an 18th place finish. The T-Birds marched to their fourth victory of the season at Centralia Meet. The Thunderbirds beat the Skagit Valley Thistles and the Southside Clinebirds. There is still a close race for the state title with 120 points and a second place over the Highline Jets.

Biggest Score

The biggest score tallied this season was a 60-0 thrashing over the Highline College Highliners by the Lower Coldbeavers. The T-Birds, who expected to win by a big margin, were not up to par, but as far as they went, they went all the way. The T-Birds certainly showed their stuff in the first round, but the Highliners had to catch a few breaks, and they did, making it a close game. The T-Birds came away with the victory, and the Highliners were just too strong for the opposition.

The American College Management Club has recently been reorganized and has taken on a new zest. Its purpose is to promote the understanding of the principles of management and business. The club meets weekly on Mondays at 7:00 p.m. in the College Center.

The mechanics of putting an event on the activities calendar are not always clear to those who are expected to act as an informal student manager. In the past the International Relations Club has been active in many areas of the campus. Recently the club sponsored a debate on the effects of the United States policy in Southeast Asia.

The debates will be held on the first Friday of each month in the College Center. The International Relations Club will act as the host and the debate will be a forum for discussion of the recent events in this area.

The President of the International Relations Club, Mr. Hellriegel, said: "The purpose of this organization is to promote understanding of the world community and to provide a forum for discussion of current events."

The new officers are: Addie Jones, program chairman; John Smith, publicity chairman; and Robert Green, secretary. The club will meet weekly on Mondays at 7:00 p.m. in the College Center.

The Upper Mail will be published every Tuesday in the College Center. It is a forum for students to express their opinions and ideas. The Mail is open to all students, and anyone interested in contributing is encouraged to do so.

The Upper Mail welcomes letters, articles, and ideas from students. The Mail is a place for students to express their views and ideas on current events, college life, and other topics of interest.
