Ugly Man To Be Announced At Dance

Highline Students At Science Seminar

College Offers New Courses

Big Turnout Expected Saturday For Highline's Costume Dance And "Ugly Man" Contest Results

ENROLLMENT GIVEN FOR FALL QUARTER

Coins for U.G.N.:
Editorial... Rise or Decline?

In Highline College on the site on the students as a whole? We are not entirely sure if it is a fact that every person feels we should be students because there may be some who feel otherwise.

It is important to note that the campus community has been involved in the planning, development, and management of various activities on campus. This involvement has helped to foster a sense of ownership and pride in the college.

In recent years, Highline College has undergone significant changes and growth. The college has expanded its facilities, added new programs, and increased student enrollment. These changes have been made possible through the efforts of faculty, staff, and students.

Many of these efforts have been led by student leaders, who have worked tirelessly to ensure the success of various projects and initiatives. These leaders have played a vital role in helping to shape the future of the college.

As we look forward to the future, it is important to recognize the contributions of all members of the campus community. We must continue to work together to ensure that Highline College remains a place where students can thrive and achieve their goals.

Thank you for your continued support and commitment to Highline College.

Letters to the Editor

What do you think? Are there other topics that should be discussed in the campus newspaper? Share your thoughts and ideas in the comments section below.

---

Student Activities:
A Few Can't Do Everything Alone

This week, we are highlighting the importance of teamwork and collaboration in student activities on campus. We believe that it is crucial for students to work together to achieve their goals and make a positive impact on campus.

Teamwork is essential in many areas of our lives, including academics, athletics, and extracurricular activities. It allows us to pool our strengths and resources to accomplish tasks that may be too difficult for one person to do alone.

By working together, we can achieve more and make a greater impact. This is especially true in fields such as research, service projects, and community service.

Let's continue to celebrate the success of student activities and encourage more students to get involved. Together, we can make a difference and create a vibrant and dynamic campus environment.

---

Letters to the Editor

What do you think? Are there other topics that should be discussed in the campus newspaper? Share your thoughts and ideas in the comments section below.
He read several letters that emphasized the coming before the State Senate. In his speech, he stated that he has simply pointed out problems that will face us in the coming year. The representatives from the 30th District failed to receive any support for the tax measures she initiated. The first round of speakers emphasized the fact that in the coming year, the residents of the 30th District must work for improvement in their communities. They must work for improvement in education in their colleges. The plan is always the same—Operation Breakdown—but last week, I was one up on them. I threatened that if I didn't keep away from Semestriel meetings, she'd petition. The plan is always the same—Operation Breakdown—but last week, I was one up on them. I threatened that if I didn't keep away from Semestriel meetings, she'd petition. The plan is always the same—Operation Breakdown—but last week, I was one up on them. I threatened that if I didn't keep away from Semestriel meetings, she'd petition.
Rick Ancheta --
Student With Many Interests

Better known as "Bret," this 20-year-old student at Highline College has many interests in schoolwork and extracurricular activities. He is one of the most dedicated students at Highline, and you'll often see him working on his homework late into the night.

However, outside of schoolwork, Bret is an avid sports fan. He is a member of the Highline College basketball team, and he also enjoys playing baseball and football. He is a fan of the Seattle Seahawks, and he attends their games whenever possible.

In addition to his athletic pursuits, Bret is also a member of the school's drama club. He has acted in several productions and has enjoyed every minute of it. When not at school or playing sports, Bret is usually found reading a book or studying for his next class.

Bret is a typical college student, but what sets him apart is his dedication to his studies and his love for sports. He is a shining example of how one can balance their academic and extracurricular commitments.

---

Dr. Shirley Gordon Helped Begin Highline College

Dr. Shirley Gordon was a key figure in the establishment of Highline College. She was the first Dean of the college, and she believed in the importance of providing a comprehensive education for students.

Dr. Gordon was a strong advocate for community colleges and believed that they were essential for providing access to higher education. She worked tirelessly to ensure that Highline College was well-equipped to meet the needs of students.

Dr. Gordon's legacy is still felt today, as Highline College continues to provide a high-quality education for students. She is remembered as a dedicated educator and a pioneer in the field of community colleges.

---

Dale, "Proud Of T-Bird Spirit"

Dale Smith is the son of the late Robert Smith, who was a prominent member of the T-Bird basketball team. Dale has continued his father's legacy by playing for the T-Birds, and he is proud of the team's tradition.

Dale is a star player for the T-Birds, and he has helped lead the team to several victories. He is known for his skills on the court and his dedication to the team.

When asked about his father, Dale said, "My father was a great player, and he taught me a lot about basketball. I'm proud of the T-Bird tradition, and I hope to continue it for many years to come."
Married Students Have Advantages

by [Author]

Married students have advantages that single students do not have. These advantages can make it easier for married students to succeed in their studies and become successful in their careers. Married students often have a support system in place, such as a spouse or partner, who can provide emotional support, assistance with household chores, and financial support. This can allow married students to focus more on their studies and less on everyday concerns.

Some married students may also have a partner who can help them with their studies. For example, a spouse who is a teacher or a tutor can help their partner with their homework or studying. This can be especially helpful if the married student is taking night courses or online courses, where they may not have as much access to in-person support.

In addition to having a support system, married students may also be more likely to have a stable income, which can help them pay for their education. This can reduce the financial stress that some single students may feel, allowing them to focus more on their studies.

However, married students may also face challenges, such as balancing their studies with their family responsibilities. They may need to adjust their study schedule to fit around their family commitments, which can be difficult.

Overall, married students have advantages that can help them succeed in their studies. However, they also face challenges that they need to be aware of and work to overcome.
Highline College Wins Debate Clinic Against Other Community Colleges

Mike Foster and the Gophers left Puyallup's campus in a victory yesterday in the Seattle community college's round robin debate. The Gophers, who lost to the University of Washington, lost to Seattle Community College and tied with Edmonds Community College, lost only once to the University of Puget Sound.

In addition to providing an excellent conclusion to competition for the '74-'75 debate season, the round robin allowed the debaters at each college to test themselves against the competition. The debaters received no official ranking in this year's round robin, but Highline's debate team did win the first place trophy.

The team of John Anderson and Joanne Corbley, who were among the best debaters in the Tri-County league, were joined by second place team members.among the best debaters in the Tri-County league, were joined by second place team members.

All three rounds were hard-fought and the debate to avoid extraneous discussion and the attention and complexity of the decision order...questions that cannot be scored equally, or equally.

Curtis Anderson and Pernice Smith, who were second place winners at the same tournament, took the third place trophy in this year's round robin. They were joined by third place team members.

The upcoming round robin will be held during the month of March. The debate season will be concluded in a formal tournament at the University of Washington in late March.

SWEA Education Conference Presents Future Challenge

The Future Challenge is a program designed to encourage students to think about their future and how it will affect their careers. The program will be held on the campus of Highline College on March 15th.

The program will feature speakers from various fields, including business, education, and government. Participants will have the opportunity to learn about the opportunities available in these fields and to network with professionals in the field.

The Future Challenge is open to all students at Highline College, regardless of major. Registration is required, and space is limited. For more information, please contact the SWEA Education Office at 425-889-7511.
I

in the past. One good reason is there is no place to play. The field pavilions. There is another field down below that has been newly be a close game); New York can't lose this wee&, they have

(It won't from experience from the other generous teams. With&& majority.)

say that the football field will campus vice the activity, and knowing how much participation thing team left off. Don .Moore and Jeff Jorden started

AFL

jor League Franchise falls short of voters to recognize what an asset it would have been to the community and the city of Seattle has the facility for ma-chance to vote on an all sports of $38 bond issue was put to a vote.

It could be a long time before this area will get another

Seattlc's bid for an All Pur-

area will get another

Last week's injuries, then he might play. This probably be composed of Tom Sparlin at quarterback, little Bill mer finishes, he might play. This his strong kick caught dead heat was timed at 18313.4, four seconds better than the mer's strong kick caught in 33ighline's high speed har-

Ski Club Looking

Forward to Trips

The Skyline College Ski

Club held its first meeting

Tuesday, et. 18, at noon in

C.B. 105. Although Uttle was

planned for the season

athletics and school, so the school

to officiate class, Mr. CWln pres

tific class, Mr. CWln pres summer and fall, and there's all one

DRCER

I don't think the Seahawks will begin for football, and these practices are getting stronger every week. If not cross country from other campus for the season, and it's the team's overall record.

The T-birds travel to Ellens-

Olympia on Friday night for a 2 p.m.

3-5800

Ski Club Looking

Forward to Trips

The Skyline College Ski

Club held its first meeting

Tuesday, Oct. 18, at noon in

C.B. 105. Although Uttle was

planned for the season

athletics and school, so the school

to officiate class, Mr. CWln pres

Ph.D. and was credited ahead of

by the

the need for organized tranfessional man in the field.

described and interpreted by Mr. Czubin. The much modified

Track. Last year he became Mr.

made his athletic endeavors in place finish in the state meet.

to do a good job.

11863 Des Moines Way Seattle, WA.

Get Worthy's

Worthy's

the

the safety for the playep

try trails this year marked straight win on the cross coun-individually in each meet and the need for organized trane professional trans.

for the needs of the next meeting

are not appropriate for the sivities of the next meeting

are not appropriate for the

are not appropriate for the

are not appropriate for the

are not appropriate for the

are not appropriate for the Many college students do not realize how valuable the Social Science area is to himself and to society. Proving their usefulness to their minds and thereby to their society, to control and develop his ability to assist to himself and to society.

Dealing with "the human relations problem," Dr. Pew has attempted to pereut the social sciences and to accomplish this, he stated Dr. Pew.

"...the Social Science department must include the various aspects of such behavior. The Social Science area includes anthropology, geography, history, and philosophy of this and other nations. It attempts to pereut the social sciences and to accomplish this, the Social Science area will include the various aspects of such behavior."

The Social Science area is an essential part of a broad education. It enables students to become more effective workers and to understand and control their social environment as they develop their ability to assist to themselves and to society.

Workshop Theatre Set for November 4

At Highline College, a Workshop Theatre play will be presented on November 4. The play is called "Puccini" and is written by Pat Palmerton. The play will be presented on the Highline College campus in the Globe Theatre. The workshop will feature a number of young actors and playwrights who will be working with the workshop theatre group. The play will be presented in a series of performances throughout the day.

The Workshop Theatre play, "Puccini," is a play that deals with the life and work of Giacomo Puccini, the Italian opera composer. The play follows the life of Puccini from his early years as a composer to his later years as a successful opera composer. The play brings to light the socio-economic factors that influenced Puccini's life and work. The play also features the music of Puccini's operas, including La Boheme and Madame Butterfly.

"Puccini" is written by Pat Palmerton, a member of the Workshop Theatre group. The play is directed by the Workshop Theatre director, who is also a member of the Workshop Theatre group. The play is produced by the Workshop Theatre group, which is made up of a number of young actors and playwrights who are working with the workshop theatre group.

The Workshop Theatre group is a group of young actors and playwrights who are working together to create and produce plays. The group meets regularly to rehearse and to work on new plays. The group has produced a number of successful plays, and "Puccini" is the latest play to be produced by the group.

The Workshop Theatre play, "Puccini," is an excellent example of the work that the Workshop Theatre group is doing to create and produce new and exciting plays. The group is making an important contribution to the world of theatre, and "Puccini" is a play that is sure to be enjoyed by audiences of all ages.

The Workshop Theatre play, "Puccini," will be presented on November 4 at Highline College. The play is written by Pat Palmerton, directed by the Workshop Theatre director, and produced by the Workshop Theatre group. The play is a must-see for any lover of theatre and opera.