Justice Douglas, Wife Cathy to Arrive In Seattle for Highline College Speech

By Phyllis Booth

United States Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas will fly in from Portland on Sunday, January 22 for a special lecture to Highline students and members of the community.

Justice Douglas, who most recently attracted national attention when he wed a 23 year old cocktail waitress, Cathy Heffernan, will focus his discussion on the major Supreme Court issues.

Before his speech, which is being sponsored by the Artist-Lecture Series, Justice Douglas and his young wife will dine with Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Allan. After the 2:30 speech in the Highline pavilion, Justice Douglas will be open to questions at a special coffee hour.

The robust, 68 year old Douglas was appointed to the Supreme Court 24 years ago by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Before becoming Associate Justice, he graduated from Whitman College in Walla Walla, Washington, and taught Latin and English in Yakima high schools. In 1922, he travelled from Washington to New York City's Columbia University Law School, and paid his fare by herding a carload of Chicago-bound sheep.

While at Columbia, Douglas specialized in the relation of law and business and after graduation, he decided to do a field study of "the facts of law and life among the natives"—meaning, of course, Wall Street.

Justice Douglas has written 17 books among which are Democracy and Finance, Of Men and Mountains, and The Right of the People.

Several books, Beyond the Himalayas, Russian Journey and My Wilderness, suggest their author's passion for travel and the outdoors. Off the bench, Justice Douglas is an inveterate and observant traveler.

The six foot two, mountainous Douglas has visited Greece, Cyprus, Iraq, Iran, Lebanon, Syria, Israel, India, Maylaya, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Indo China, Burma, Thailand, Japan, Korea, Russia, Afghanistan and Turkey.

"It was infantile paralysis that drove me to the outdoors," states Douglas. Determined to build up his spindly legs, he hiked and climbed in the Yakimas in his home state, Washington.

After speaking at Highline, the Douglas' will fly to Yakima.

Anderson Heads Debate Squad

Highline's debate team, led by John Anderson, gave a good account of itself at Seattle Pacific College's Pacific Northwest Invitational Speech Tournament, January 13 and 14. Oregon schools dominated the competition among 263 students from 28 schools, including eight junior colleges. The University of Oregon scored more points than all other schools combined. The upset of the tournament came when Highline's debaters knocked the University of Oregon's best junior men's team out of first place and into a tie for second.

As usual Anderson was Highline's most consistent performer in individual events. In preliminary rounds of impromptu speaking, he scored one first and two thirds. Mike Parker also entered impromptu speaking, placing first in one round. Nancy Sanford entered women's oratory for the first time, but failed to place. With more experience both Parker and Miss Sanford should do well.

In debating, the team was wildly erratic, combining the upset victory over the University of Oregon with only one other victory while losing three times. Anderson, Parker, and Miss Sanford took turns working as teammates in the junior men division. It was Parker and Miss Sanford who combined talents to narrowly defeat the University of Oregon team. These two then dropped a close decision to a strong team from Centralia College. A disaster was in a crushing defeat at the hands of Western Washington State College's best junior team.

Semestrial Secrets Revealed; New Magazine on Sale Soon

Now that the tired T-Word reporter has quit trying to scoop the Semestrial, the staff has revealed its secrets.

The editors have announced that the Semestrial, which replaces last year's Quarterly and the traditional annual of two years before, has been sent to its Hannibal, Missouri publishers, the American Yearbook Company, and will be sold during the first week of February.

The T-Word reporter, despite his shortcomings, was correct when he guessed that the Semestrial is not an annual, a Quarterly, or Field and Stream. Instead, it is a magazine consisting of both picture stories and magazine length articles.

It is the magazine articles that separated the Semestrial from the Quarterly. Many purposes of the library, other than that of supplying books, are uncovered in an interview with Junius Morris, head librarian. Chris Behrmann, in her interview with Dr. M. A. Allan, finds the college president "just as human as the next person." Rik Gwin, art instructor, tells of the first days on the Glacier Campus, and describes his philosophy of art. James Gardiner, newest art teacher at Highline, recalls his days as an Olympic rowing champion.

Mrs. Carol Hall talks to aspiring young writers in an article entitled "a Sense of Being Different." Mrs. Hall, who is not only a Highline English instructor, but a top Northwest poet has written a poem especially for the first Semestrial. The history of Highline College is traced through words and pictures from its muddy beginnings at Glacier to its present, still muddy building days across from the Midway Drive-In.

And there are many more articles and photographs throughout the book which consists of 80 pages. Watch the bulletin for notices, and when the Semestrial arrives, be certain to get a copy fast since a limited amount have been ordered.

atic course while Anderson and Parker were working together. Though facing relatively weak competition the boys managed to lose to the University of Puget Sound while winning from Yakima Valley College.

Debate Coach William Bennett said he was pleased with the team's showing. "When you consider the advantage that the four-year schools have, it's amazing that our kids do as well as they do. Of course competitors are divided into junior and senior divisions so that junior college speakers never face upper division students, but, and here's the advantage, the junior speakers from four-year schools practice with senior speakers, imitating their tactics and sharpening their own wits."

Queen's Coronation Features Singing Group, "The Holidays"

Sunday, January 22 will mark the beginning of Highline College's second KAN-E-YAS-O Week, five days of fun and frolic. Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the Queen's Coronation will commence the week's activity. A gala affair has been planned by the Management Club and the KAN-E-YAS-O Chairlady, Edith Karkila.

Live entertainment will highlight the pavilion coronation. Seattle's own "Holidays" will provide music and comedy.

"The Holidays" include two young men from the famous choral group "the Young Men" and two female recording artists in their own right. Peter Leg, Vancouver, B.C. comedian, will be Master of Ceremonies.

Also highlighting the coronation will be the introduction of the 1966 KAN-E-YAS-O Court. With the voting to be completed today, six candidates vie for the Queen's crown. They are:

Marsha Louise Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Roberts of 22846-12th Avenue South, Des Moines. She is a graduate of Mt. Rainier.

Gayle Westbrook, daughter of Howard Westbrook, 13008 First Avenue South. She is a graduate of Highline High School.

Lynda Swedelius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Swedelius of 9131 South 133rd Street. She is a graduate of Foster High School.

Diana Nessly, daughter of Robert L. Nessly, 4708-51st S.W. She is a graduate of West Seattle High School.

Christine Hamre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hamre, 30011 14th Avenue South, Federal Way. She is a graduate of Federal Way High School.

Karen Sorenson, daughter of Marion J. Sorenson, 20810 2nd South. She is a graduate of Mt. Rainier High School.

Editorial ... Kan E Yas O

A tradition has been established at Highline College. Last year, student leaders undertook the enormous task of beginning a complete week of co-ordinate activities to Highline College. This week was named Kan E Yas O which means "mid-winter festival."

Styled after the usual high school or university homecoming, Kan E Yas O offers activities of interest to every student as well as a chance for alumni to get together. Last year the activities included a semi-formal dance, mad "grub" day, jazz concert, bonfire, and basketball game.

This year Kan E Yas O and its traditions are being co-ordinated by the Program Committee which is headed by Edith Karklins. They are planning activities which will be of interest to all students.

The week will begin with the coronation of the Queen and her court Sunday night and end with a formal, semi-formal dance at the Hyatt House. Throughout the week various clubs will be sponsoring events and activities.

Each planned event has required a great deal of time and energy on the part of club members. They began work last fall on their respective activities. Each club has also been required to do their own publicity in the form of announcements and posters.

Therefore, even the posters you see around campus are the result of many hard working individuals rather than the usual small group of one or two doing all the work.

Besides providing students with many varied activities, Kan E Yas O has served to get more people involved in student activities. Ideas for activities this year are the traditional Queen's Coronation this Sunday at 8 p.m.; a Mad Day with various fun-filled events, and a formal, semi-formal dance. New events added to the week are a beard contest, a ski fashion show, and the production of a one-act play.

Reigning over the week will be a Queen and her court. They are selected from representatives of clubs and organizations at Highline College. Today you, the students, will be voting on the six finalists. One sophomore candidate will become Queen and the runner-up will become Sophomore Princess. The two Freshman candidates are competing for the title of Freshman Princess.

They will be your royalty and will represent Highline College so be sure to vote wisely. Voting will take place in the Student Lounge.

We sincerely hope that each and every student will attend as many of the activities this coming week as possible. They have been planned with you in mind by students like yourselves. Let's show that we really appreciate all their efforts and donated time by going to the activities and having a really good time.

Don't Forget . . . Kan E Yas O begins Sunday and promises to be a fun packed week.

Odds 'N Ends

NO MORE MUD!

A kind word of thanks to the construction workers. They've been shoveling the mud off the walkway to the Pavilion. Now we don't have to wade through the mudflats to get to class.

SOPH MEETING — AT LAST!

Congratulations, Soph Class! You've finally done it — you've actually had a meeting!! Keep up the good work.

ORCHIDS AND SUCH

An orchid to the "Chairlady" and her crew of helpers who have worked so hard on Kan E Yas O.

GAMES GOING GREAT

Participation at the Highline-Sagaft game was great. Let's see more of the same. (And the Cheer Staff is even keeping "down in front.")

JACKS REPLACED

Well, the childhood game of jacks has gone out of style at Highline College. Now the "youngsters" in the lounge have matured to pick up sticks. Wonder what will be next?

Modern Living Course To Be Added at HCC

A modern living program will be added to the Highline College curriculum next year, according to Dr. Shirley B. Gordon, dean of instruction.

The program is primarily designed for young women who will soon be housekeeping on their own. Interpersonal relationships of how people live and get along will be the main emphasis of the program; the program's courses will feature general home management and entertainment ideas rather than the traditional cooking and sewing.

The building to be used in the modern living program is now being constructed behind the classroom building. Some of its features will be a small living area and four kitchen areas—one small one, such as would be found in an apartment, one ultramodern one and two of average size.

Dr. Gordon feels that it will be an "exciting and practical course that will help any young woman move into a home or apartment."

Nursing Program To Accept Applications

The Highline College registered Nursing Program will be accepting applications February 1, 1967. However, all applicants will be required to take a placement examination before the applications will be processed. Placement examinations are scheduled for January 28, 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., February 1, 3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

There are generally over 200 applicants for this program and only 30 or 40 are accepted. Male students as well as female are accepted in the nursing program.

The student nurses obtain their experience in the facilities offered by the Burien General Hospital, West Seattle Hospital and for pediatric nursing, Harbor View Hospital. There are now eight students in the sophomore class and 22 enrolled in the freshman class.

If you are interested in applying for the Highline College Registered Nursing Program, please call the Counseling Office at TR 8-3710 and reserve a seat in one of the testing sessions.

Carl Jensen Talks To Small Group

Mr. Carl Jensen, Superintendent of Highline School District, spoke to a small group of students and faculty on the complex problems of taxation Thursday, January 12. The talk which was held in the Lecture Hall, dealt mainly with taxation and education in public schools.

Mr. Jensen stated that one of the biggest problems is communication.

People simply do not know about the tax measures on the ballot. When they are uninformed, voters generally tend to vote against a measure. This is one of the reasons for the failure of the school levy last fall in the Highline District.

The special mill levy has become a necessary way of obtaining revenue for school districts. This levy accounts for approximately one-fourth of the district budget. The remainder comes from various state revenues for schools.

The increasing need for a larger budget has been caused by several factors. Textbooks, supplies, and maintenance costs have gone up. Salaries for teachers and clerical help have increased. Building cost has also gone up.

What happens to a district when a special levy doesn't pass? A prime example occurred in Vancouver, Washington. They lost approximately one-fourth of their revenue and had to cut back on expenses. They began by dismissing about 100 faculty members. They could not buy any new textbooks or materials. Students had to walk as much as two miles to overcrowded schools. Busses and new buildings sat empty because the district lacked the money to operate them.

Mr. Jensen pointed out that this could happen to the Highline District. However, many people in the district are out campaigning for the school levy. Students are also doing their part to help promote voting in the January 24 election.

Letter to Editor

HUMPTY DUMPTY

Editor:

The movie shown January 11 entitled THE PEOPLE OF VIETNAM contained excellent pictures of the country, but the history was a deception! The dialogue to the movie stated that the Geneva Agreements of 1954 divided the country into two countries — North and South Vietnam. The truth is that the country was divided at the 17th parallel as temporary divisions to be united at a free election in 1956. The reason the election did not take place is simply because South Vietnam's premier, Diem, would not allow them to be held. He realized that if he faced his countrymen in an election, he would be defeated. The election was somehow left out of the picture. The war in Vietnam today is the direct result of Diem's refusal to allow those elections.

Such a misstatement of fact, not once, but on several occasions throughout the film, casts aspersions on the intellectual honesty of the film makers. They stated that they had previously made films for the military. This is understandable. Such a subterfuge can go unchallenged in an organization, such as the military, where people are told and not persuaded. Where orders, rather than requests are the method of procedure. But to state such a distortion on a college campus insults the intelligence of both students and professors. The purpose of a college is the search for truth. Prostituting history in an effort to support one's position only gives rise to a "credibility gap," and is the antithesis of "the search for truth."

As students we do not have to sit back like the soldier, fearing courtmartial. Indeed, when we sit back like the soldier, we abdicate our primary responsibility as students — to question.

Perhaps Humpty Dumpty best expressed the militaries case for making words (or agreements) mean what one wants: "When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said in rather a scornful tone, "it means just what I choose it to mean, neither more nor less."

"The question is," said Alice, "whether you can make words mean so many different things."

"The question is," said Humpty Dumpty, "who is to be master, that's all!"

Sincerely yours,

David M. Wagner

VIETNAM FILM SHOWN

"The People of Vietnam," a forty-five minute narrated film, was presented three times Wednesday, Jan. 11, as part of Highline College's artist-lecture series.

The narrator, briefly summarizing the recent history of Vietnam, mentioned that North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh first became known to the Vietnamese people as a leader in Vietnam's war for independence from France during the early 1950's.

The role of the 1954 Geneva Agreement in dividing Vietnam into two autonomous states, the communist north and what the narrator called the "free" south, was also noted.

The color film featured scenes of tribal and city life in Vietnam, pointing out the poorness of the people's diet and the unsanitary conditions of the public market areas, which are frequented by flies as well as shoppers.

ANTHROPOLOGIST DR. PHOEBE MILLER JOINS FACULTY AT HIGHLINE COLLEGE

Highline College has gained a famous writer and cultural anthropologist with the addition of Dr. Phoebe Miller to the teaching staff this quarter.

Dr. Miller has written articles and chapters for anthropological journals as well as co-editing the book Cultures and Societies of Africa which was published by Random House in 1960.

To gain a background for her writings, Dr. Miller did field work in Africa. She lived and studied in Nigeria from 1951 to 1953 on a fellowship from the Social Science Research Council. Then again, from 1959 to 1960, she lived in Nigeria, in the Afikpo village group; this second time she taught at a teacher's training college and studied the marriage and family customs and the native market system, as well.

HCEA Holds Buffet Supper

The Highline College Education Association, which is composed of many of the faculty members, held a buffet supper for the legislators from the 30th, 31st, 35th and 47th districts on Friday, January 13. The purpose of the supper was to discuss the changes in the tax structure of this state and to learn what the legislators could see in terms of the state of community colleges in the next two years.

SHOP 'TIL 9 FOR USED TEXTBOOKS

When open every night Monday thru Friday 'til 9 p.m. at Varsity Book Store, 4315 University Way N.E. in Seattle's University District.

Financial Aid Possible on Campus

Financial Aid is available on campus through the college Financial Aid Officer, Miss Billie Hilliard, in the counseling office.

The Federal Government offers Educational Opportunity Grants, a program of direct awards to a limited number of undergraduate students with exceptional financial need. To be eligible, the student must also show academic or creative promise. Grants range from $200 to $800 a year.

Leadership and College awards in the amount of tuition and fees are offered to students who have demonstrated promise or achievement in an academic area, in activities, or in athletics. Scholarships in varying amounts are made possible by various private agencies and organizations.

Other aid available is student employment, emergency loans, and long term loans.

Student employment: students may supplement their income by working on campus. Rate of pay is $1.50 per hour, and students work from 10 to 15 hours per week.

Long Term Loans: An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 during each academic year through the "Guaranteed Loan Fund." This program involves the cooperation of the College, United Student Aid funds, and a private bank.

Students interested should see Miss Hilliard or Miss Koeppler from 9 a.m. to noon or 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Co-Arts Sponsors Beard Contest

The Co-Arts Club is sponsoring a Beard Growing Contest in conjunction with Kan E Vas O Week activities. Everyone is eligible (Faculty too). The beards will be judged in three classifications: longest, best looking, of special interest (UNIQUE). Prizes will be awarded.

Judging of the contest will be done by the Queen and her court at Salt Water Park on January 26, during the bonfire from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Anyone interested in joining Co-Arts Club is invited to attend the meetings which are held in A106. The time and dates will be announced in the bulletin.

Film Production Meeting Planned

Students interested in participating in the Film Production Program are to meet at 5 p.m., January 25, in the library Audio-Visual room, Mr. William Hoffman, program advisor, announced recently.

The program enables students to produce their own 16-mm. films on any short film subject. The production will be aided by a professional film producer and by Mr. Hoffman.

The resulting camera works will be viewed during the Spring Arts Festival, May 25 through the 29th.

Also included in the production is a weekly series of short and feature length films to be shown every Friday at noon in the Lecture Hall. The schedule includes, "The Day Manolette Was Killed," "Day of the Painter," "The Flying Man," and "From Inner Space." The week after January 20, the National Student Film Festival award winning short subjects will be shown. These films are similar to the type to be produced by Highline College students.

'Silver Shadows' Dance Saturday January 28

Climaxing the week of activities during Kan E Vas O is the semi-formal, formal dance to be held Saturday, January 28, at the Hyatt House. The theme for the dance which is sponsored by the Program Committee is Silver Shadows.

Music will be provided by the Jerry Frank Trio. The dance will last from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight. The price for this evening of fun and dancing is only $3.50 per couple.

Remember—Silver Shadows at the Hyatt House where you'll be able to see the Queen and Her Royal Court for the last time.

Fresh Class Is Off to Good Start

The "Who" were there. Sound like bad English? Well, it isn't, it's just a statement of fact. The "Who" were there . . . at the January 7, re-get-acquainted dance here at Highline College. The dance, sponsored by the freshman class, was the most successful to-date, though attendance was considered low. While the "roof" was being raised" downstairs, games like "twisters" and "charades" were being played upstairs. In the words of Rob Balzarini, freshman class president, it was "Terrific."

But the freshman activities won't stop with that dance. There's a freshman class meeting Thursday, January 9, in CB102; and the freshman bonfire is January 26. The bonfire, held in Salt Water Park from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., will feature free cocoa and (rumors have it) a Buddhist Monk.

Of course, reports of freshman activities won't be complete without mentioning, even at this late date, that the Freshman Class won the Christmas window display contest. All clubs were invited to enter the contest.

One last item ("free advertising"). Ski Team, which was off and running for a while, has now run afire. Their coach can be their coach no longer and Ski Team is looking for a new one. So, if anyone knows of one, notify Rob Balzarini. You'll find him goofing off in the lounge somewhere.

Religion Series Still Open

The second in the series of lectures on "Great Religions by Which Men Live" will be held Monday evening in the lecture hall at 7:30 p.m. The bookstore has tickets available at a reduced fee for students. Coordinated by Rabbi Raphael H. Levine, the series will feature authorities on the particular religion under discussion.

The Rabbi will devote the series to a discussion of the principal religions of the world. The first hour will consist of a lecture, the second hour will be devoted to questions and answers.

Rabbi Levine received the B'nai Brith Award 1960 of "Man of the Year" for his service to intergroup understanding and improvement of human relations. He was the first recipient of the Citizen's Award for Contribution to Religion in 1962. He is a founder and member of the National Award Winning TV Panel Discussion Program "Challenge" on KOMO-TV. He is active in many community activities and is the author of four books.

Rabbi Levine believes "To win the friendship of peoples different from ourselves, we must learn to communicate with them. That means we have to learn to understand the cultural and spiritual influences which govern their lives not as curious oddities, but with an earnest desire to know and respect these cultures and religions and what they mean to the peoples we seek as friends and co-workers in building a world of freedom and peace."

In line with this philosophy, the Rabbi founded the Seattle chapter of "People to People" and is a member of the Seattle Human Rights Commission.

HCEA Raises Money

The Highline College Education Association, composed of many Highline College faculty members, recently raised $155 to help pay for the special levy election to be held in the Highline School District on January 24. One hundred dollars was taken from the HCEA's budget; the remaining $55 came from a raffle held among Highline faculty members, in which Mr. Leonard Johnson, bookstore manager, won a dinner for two at the Space Needle.

Fresh Ideas Needed For Social Committee

Is your mind just bubbling over with ideas for activities which you would like to have on campus? If so, the Social Committee is just for you. They will appreciate any suggestions which you have to offer.

One of the most outstanding functions the Social Committee will be sponsoring this quarter is the Fireside on Feb. 24. What is a Fireside? Usually they have a dance, sometimes accompanied by a fireplace to create a warm atmosphere. The Social committee is open for suggestions for what you would like to have for this year's Fireside. If you have any suggestions it would be appreciated if you would give them to either Colleen Mullon or Mrs. Laver, in the Student Government Office.

If you are interested in planning and working on the Social Committee, please attend the meetings which are posted in the bulletin.

MEET THE CHEER STAFF

Marcia Hay

Students of Highline College, meet your 1966-'67 Cheer Staff! The five talented young ladies who comprise this group are: Marcia Hay Pat Toal Barb Palm Jo Vincenzi Marsha Hay Highline's enthusiastic cheerleaders have the tremendous task of generating pep and school spirit into the students during the basketball games.

The past few weeks the girls have practiced very hard devising new cheers, yells, and routines for the '66-'67 basketball season.

Cheerleader Jo Vincenzi summed up the group's feelings as she commented on the last pep rally: "Many of the students were just 'on lookers' content to let the other guy do the yelling. There are only five of us and we want everyone to take an active part in the yells and cheers. We want the team to know we are behind them all the way."

The girls wish to express their appreciation to their adviser, Mrs. Karen Frank, for all her help; to the Pep Club for their support in the rally; and especially to Mr. Edward Fish and the band, who have generously given their time and talents in helping them during the many long hours of practice. The band will also accompany the girls this year during the games.

T-BIRDS WIN, LOSE; DROP TO THIRD

By Dale Bolinger

A split in last week's basketball play dropped the Highline College Thunderbirds from a three-way tie for first to a deadlock with Shoreline for third. The T-birds elevated themselves to a share of the lead by wallowing Green River in Auburn, 101-77. Skagit Valley then came to the Highline plant and handed the birds a 72-76 setback.

The Gators gave Highline a tussle for most of the first half but ended the period trailing 46-36. Bill Eldred and Harold Ross carried the scoring load for the visitors. Eldred went to the halftime break with 13 while Ross had 12 for the first 20 minutes.

Rick Ancheta, ankle healed and back in the starting lineup, spearheaded the attack with strategic passes and playmaking. He handed out eight assists in the first half and four more after the break to establish a new school record of 12 in a single game. Ancheta also found time to score 11 points and pull down seven rebounds before the night was gone.

Eldred and Ross maintained their torrid shooting after intermission and, in fact, stepped up the pace. Ross added 13 more for a total of 25. Eldred racked up 20 in the final period for a season high of 33 for the game. Eldred pulled down 16 rebounds and Ross, at 5 ft. 9 in., captured seven off the boards.

Veltry Johnson contributed a well-rounded effort, ten points, ten rebounds, and four assists. Dave Packard also found the range for double figures, getting ten for the night. Phil Kastens had eight, all in the second half. Jon Sholberg and Irv Huntsinger completed the season's highest scoring game for the T-birds with a pair of points each. Gus Suzaka, Jim Gill, and Dick Jenkins added to the attack without scoring.

Friday the thirteenth proved a day of bad luck for the Thunderbirds. The Cardinals came down from Mount Vernon to try for their second straight win over the home team. Skagit seemed to have their own way through most of the first period and built a nine-point lead. Highline surged just before halftime utilizing an eight straight run to take a 34-33 lead to intermission.

Highline held on to the lead for the first few minutes but then slowly dropped back until a nine point margin put Skagit in command again. The T-birds did not give up and nearly salvaged a victory with a rally. Trailing 72-74, Highline had the ball with 25 seconds remaining. A pass to Johnson who was open under the basket struck the rim and was recovered by a Skagit passerby. Johnson was whistled for his attempt to receive the errant ball. The one and one shots were good and Skagit wrapped up another conquest of the Thunderbirds, 72-76.

Harold Ross kept up his excellent scoring siege with his second 25-point night in a row. Ross hot on jumpers, outside shots, and a number of drives which were more than the defense could stop. Bill Eldred was stopped by a flu bug and could deliver only five points and eight rebounds before sitting down with ten minutes remaining.

Veltry Johnson, last season's least likeliest starter, not only has started the last several games, but has served as the floor captain as well. Against Skagit he took up the slack for Eldred by grabbing 18 rebounds and dumping in 10 points, both career highs for Johnson as a T-bird.

No other Highliners could find the range to get into double figures. Jon Sholberg tallied nine, Rick Ancheta scored only six although he continued a hot pace at his playmaking with nine assists. Dick Jenkins hit for three, Dave Packard four, and Irv Huntsinger one as Phil Kastens and Jim Gill did not score.

Highline's record is now 5-3 in conference play and 7-5 overall.

Thunderbirds Trounce Samuri

by Dale Bolinger

The Highline College Thunderbirds moved into a tie for the lead in the North Division of the state's community college basketball conference by defeating Shoreline, 86-67. The loss is the first for the Samurai, giving both schools identical marks in league play, 8-1. The Tuesday, December 20, game was played in the Highline Pavilion.

Shoreline dictated the play in the early going and even built a seven point lead before the home team could get untracked. The T-birds caught up midway through the period but could not move ahead, thanks to the hot shooting of Terry Banks of the Samurai. Banks threw in 13 points before intermission.

Highline's longest lead of the period came at the buzzer, 40-37.

Sensing the opportunity to move into the league lead, the Thunderbirds increased the defensive pressure throughout the second half. The results were rewarding for Coach Jack Hubbard. Bad passes, forced shots and traveling violations by the Samurai gave the ball to the T-birds time after time until the hosts had extended their lead to 25 points.

Harold Ross, freshman backcourtier from Garfield, burned the twines for 17 in the final period. He led all scorers with 25 for the night. The ball-hawking and drives by Ross broke open the ball game for Highline and the Samurai never really got back into it, losing finally by 21, 86-67.

Rick Ancheta, veteran guard and playmaker, sat out the contest with an injured foot. His back up man, Dick Jenkins, spent little time apologizing for the absence of Ancheta, and ran in 18 points. Both Jenkins and Ross hit at a combined rate of better than 50% for the night.

Jon Sholberg and Bill Eldred, the only starting sophomores, each tallied 16 points. Sholberg captured 14 rebounds along the way to lead his team in that category.

Phil Kastens racked up seven points and four big assists in relief duty. Gus Suzaka held his scoring attack to a single three-point-play. Jim Gill added two free throws to help assure the victory.

Irv Huntsinger, Jim Wilson, and Paul McConaughy finalized the conquest although none scored. And Veltry Johnson, ineligible through the early season, ill when he became available, and still hampered with the flu, got into the action for the first time this year. While he did not score, having a hand in knocking off Shoreline was a good way to start for the only other letterman in the line up.

Intramural Basketball Begins

By Steve Calvin

The beginning of another intramural basketball season started last Tuesday, Jan. 17, when the teams from both intramural leagues, National and American, took to the courts at twelve noon. The teams, fourteen in all, are split up into the two leagues with seven on each. There will be a round robin type system where each team plays every team in its own league and one inter-league game that will count toward the championship. After league play has ended the top five teams in each league will then participate in a single elimination tournament. All in all the championship team will have played at least nine games and at the most eleven games.

The teams that play today are the Pacemakers and the Hatchmen from the American League, and the 69'ers and the Draft Dodgers from the National League. There will be another game following that will pit the Foulers of the American League against the Sopwith Camels of the National League. One thing is noted, the American League will always play their games on the East court, and the National League will always play on the West court.

The games for next week are as follows: Tuesday 24, The Dudes vs. The Hatchmen of the American League, and the In Crowd vs. The Draft Dodgers of the National League; Thursday 26, The M&M's vs. Rallemeyn of the American League, and Dorg vs. The Jacques of the National League; on Friday 27 The Way-Feds vs. Foulers of the American League, and The Rabbits vs. The Sopwith Camels of the National League; the inter-league game of the week will be between the Pacemakers of the American League and the 69'ers of the National League.

All games on Tuesdays and Thursdays will be at twelve o'clock, while the games on Fridays will be at twelve and one, and if there is a schedule conflict about the times on Friday see Don Austin or Dale Bolinger.

SPORTS Plaudits & Pundits by Steve Calvin

The winter sports are now in the swing including intramural basketball and to date the college teams aren't doing badly at all. The wrestling team coached by Dick Wooding has made his team a title contender in only its first inter-collegiate event. The team has lost only to the undefeated Columbia Basin team, and have chalked up impressive victories in the Washington Invitational Tournament. Considering the team has only one experienced returnee from last year, Don Austin, the T-BIRDS have found tremendous efforts in Ken Higgins and Nathan Roundy. Higgins has already pinned the state champion this year, and that makes him a top contender for that spot. Nathan Roundy won his last two matches on pins and is a strong contender for state honors.

The Thunderbird cagers are not quite as well off as the grapplers after last week's play. They were deadlocked in a first-place tie with Everett, Skagit Valley, and Shoreline, before they met the Skagit Valley Cardinals Friday, January 13, and after being defeated at home 76-72 the T-BIRDS dropped into third place. They are 5-3 in league play and 7-5 overall as of presstime, the game with Shoreline last Wednesday, Jan. 18, was a real deciding factor as to who will possibly make the tournament playoffs this year. Last year the T-BIRDS finished second in the state to Yakima Valley, and the year before they finished third; this year could be the charm.

Outstanding games by individuals this year were played by Bill Eldred, sophomore center who has had the highest scoring output in one game when he tallied 33 against Green River Jan. 11. Rick Ancheta, the assist record holder for the T-BIRDS, broke his own single-game assist record he set last year by gaining 12 assists in that same Green River game. Harold Ross, freshman guard, has been the top scorer consistently this year by averaging close to twenty points a game. Veltry Johnson, who I believe is destined to be a Harlem Globetrotter in the Meadowlark Lemon style, has improved his play tremendously over last year. Johnson has started the last couple of games, and turned in some fine efforts, his best being against Skagit Valley where he scored 19 points and pulled down ten rebounds along with his four assists.

The intramural basketball season has started, and for those of you who like to watch top flight basketball, don't go to the intramural games, but for those of you who like to watch a good game of basketball football style, this is just your meat. Now the players aren't that bad, and they put out an effort, but they are fun games to watch, and I think people should go and see these fellows play. You can root for your favorite team, or rather your favorite name if you want, because when you give college students a chance to pick a name for their own team, they invariably come up with things like the Halleymen, or the 69'ers, or the Foulers. For you swingers there are the In Crowd, the Pacemakers, and the Dudes. For the soft hearted there are the Hatchmen, for the military minded, there are the Draft Dodgers, and the Sopwith Camels; for the sweet and biological there are the M&M's or the Rabbits; and for you that don't know what's going on there are the Jacques, or the Wayfeds, or Durg.

Names don't make a team, but for some of them, that's all they have.

HC Wrestlers To Aim For State

by Ron Lamb

Undefeated in the first three matches, the Thunderbird wrestlers are aiming toward their first state championship, according to Coach Dick Wooding.

Gaining points from every weight category, the team scored wins in the Grays Harbor Invitational, the University of Washington Invitational, and the Green River match. The U of W Invitational was described by Coach Wooding as the most important win of the three because it was an indication of state junior college caliber. It was not an easy win, however, as Big Bend and Columbia Basin, defending state co-champs, trailed by four and six points, respectively.

With only two sophomores and one returnee from last year, the coach felt there was still room for improvement. As he pointed out, overall state competition this year is very good, with every school possessing at least one strong individual performer. The schedule, one of the toughest and most representative of the state's two-year schools, is another reason for improvement. The team has not avoided the bad breaks, however. At the end of the last quarter, they lost the high-point man on grades and several other members on illness and injury.

One of the toughest bouts upcoming is a contest with Grays Harbor Jan. 21 in the Highline Pavilion. The Chokers are cited as one of the top teams in the state and the match could go either way.

Teeter-Totter Test Goes On 'n On

During the past week, the students and faculty of H.C. may have initiated and witnessed a new craze — a Teeter-Totter Marathon.

Everyone has heard of marathons. Whether it be a contest in walking, football or baseball game, swimming, or dancing, a marathon always attracts the attention of a crowd.

The contest which was postponed by the A.S.B. last week began this morning at 8:00 a.m. and will continue until Friday of next week.

All students are invited to participate in the teeter-tottering. Participants will be on the teeter totters for one hour shifts during the day (from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.). During the night the shifts will be increased to four hours.

To participate you must have a waiver with your parent's signature if you are under 21.

So keep an eye on the patio by the cafeteria and see Highline try for a world's record in teeter-tottering!

T-Birds Split in Conference Play

The Highline College basketball team fell from a first place tie to third in the North Division Conference by losing to Everett in overtime, 69-73, and beating Tacoma, 60-63.

Both contests were staged at Highline. Everett gained its victory Wednesday, Jan. 4 and Tacoma submitted on Friday. The visiting Trojans jumped to an early lead with the first five points of the game. Highline recovered and tied the score later in the period, but trailed for most of the 20 minutes until a six point burst sent them to the half-time break with a 36-33 advantage.

The lead changed hands several times and was tied a number of times including at the end of regulatio play, 63-63. From there the extra five minutes were just what the visitors needed to demolish the Thunderbirds, 69-73.

In the last 9 minutes of play, the T-birds managed only a paltry six points. This feeble effort gave credence to the predictions of the Trojan cheer staff as they led the onlookers from the North with enthusiastic yells.

Bill Eldred paced the scoring for the birds with 15 points. Veltry Johnson, starting for the Thunderbirds for the first time in two years, sparked his team with his hustle and enthusiasm. Johnson racked up 14 points before leaving the game by the foul route with six minutes remaining. With Johnson gone, the T-birds floundered until Everett sealed the outcome in the encore.

Jon Sholberg scored 13 points and pulled down ten rebounds, second only to the 17 caroms captured by Bill Eldred. Harold Ross took only slightly longer to accumulate five fouls than did Johnson, and was the third man in double figures with a dozen points. Rick Ancheta hit for six, Dick Jenkins 6, and Phil Kastens and Jim Gill each added a field goal.

Things went more to the liking of the home crowd the following Friday when Tacoma tried its luck in the Highline Pavilion. The Titans are the youngest member of the conference and are suffering the pains of initiation during this, their first year of operation. Veltry Johnson again supplied the impetus for the Highline attack. He and Jon Sholberg each hit for ten points in the first half. Harold Ross was the third man in double figures during the first section, running his tally to 14 before giving way to a replacement. The Thunderbirds dominated the court and ran up a 47-14 lead at intermission.

The Titans, fresh from a 104-66 beating at the hands of Shoreline and then trailing by 33 at the half against Highline were in a position to give up. Such was not the case, for the fledgling squad pulled themselves together and actually outscored the T-birds by six in the last period.

Dave Packard scored nine, Rick Ancheta eight, Dick Jenkins, Phil Kastens and Jim Gill each hit for four points. Randy Bosley scored three and Irv Huntsinger and Jim Wilson each had two. All 24 players, 12 to a team, scored as both coaches utilized all of the players in uniform.

Highline's record now stands at six wins and four losses in league play and six wins and four losses overall.

Grapplers Still Undefeated

by Ron Lamb

Stretching the win streak to three, the T-bird wrestlers outmaneuvered Green River 31-13, Saturday, Jan. 7.

The 123 lbs. class showed no sign of things to come as Petteri of the Gators pinned Bob Berg, also of Highline, tied the score by pinning his opponent in the 130 lbs. division. The T-birds proceeded to win the next four weight categories as Dan Survin won by forfeit in 137, Terry Moore won by a pin in 145, Ken Higgins won by forfeit in 152, and Ron Seibert won by a decision in 160.

Dick Johnson was pinned in his 167 class match and Larry Flinary decisioned his opponent in 177, while John LaFever lost a decision in 191. Nathan Roundy completed the Highline victory by pinning his man in the unlimited class.
