Student Damage Causes Lounge Closure

The student lounge was closed on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week due to the destruction of property by students during the year. The following is an excerpt of the memo, the staff and the faculty on 11:45 a.m. at 4:00 p.m. Since Higher-prepared

Dear Fellow Members of Highline College:

Yesterday evening, December 5th, the president of the Faculty-Advisory Council, Dr. Robert McFarland, and the president of the Student Senate, Rick James, spoke to the Faculty-Advisory Council on the condition of the area.

The following discussion was made:

1. There has been some severe financial damage done to the lounge, as reported to the staff.
2. There is a need for volunteers to help remove damaged property from the lounge.
3. The staff is examining the possibility of having the lounge closed for the remainder of the year.
4. If the lounge is closed, the staff will be responsible for finding a temporary location for the lounge.

College Is No “Joy Ride”

College is a time of transformation and growth. It's not just about learning new subjects but also about personal development. The experiences encountered, both academic and social, are crucial in shaping a student's future. It requires a commitment from the students to make the most of their college years, engaging in learning, personal growth, and community involvement.

Dear Editor:

The past few months I have really enjoyed reading the newspaper. As a member of the ASHC Activities Council, I have always questioned whether the opinions expressed were correct or not. The recent article, "The Nation Needs a Draft," was made by someone who obviously has little knowledge of the draft system.

The statement was made: "The country needs a draft more than ever -- to serve the economic interests of individuals and the public interest.

The idea is that the draft is a method of providing manpower which is needed by the economic system. It is argued that those who serve in the draft are better equipped for college or for any other endeavor because they have had some sort of training experience in the army.

I am not usually considered an argumentative person, but I feel that this statement is incorrect. The draft does not provide any training experience to those who are drafted.

The two reasons given are that the draft is a method of providing manpower and that it is necessary to serve the economic interests of individuals and the public interest. I feel that this statement is incorrect. The draft does not provide any training experience to those who are drafted.

Sincerely,

Journalists Attend Green River Session

By Norm Fawzy

Puyallup, a journalist in the Seattle Times, was a guest speaker at the last Community College Journalism Workshop held at Highline College.

This was the third year the workshop has been held. Puyallup spoke about the need for better education in the field of journalism.

"Journals are an important part of our society," said Puyallup. "They help us understand the world, and they help us to tell the story of the world." He pointed out the importance of good journalism and the need for trained journalists.

Puyallup also spoke about the need for journalists to be well-prepared for their jobs. He said that journalists should be ready to write, edit, and report news stories.

He also spoke about the importance of creativity in journalism. He said that journalists should be able to think outside the box and come up with new ideas for stories.

Puyallup ended his talk by saying that journalists should always be ready to learn and improve their skills. He said that the field of journalism is constantly changing, and journalists need to be adaptable.

This was done by Dr. Allan, President of Highline College.

Dr. Allan spoke about the importance of journalism in today's world. He said that journalism is a crucial part of democracy and that it helps to hold governments accountable.

He also spoke about the need for journalists to be well-prepared for their jobs. He said that journalists should be trained in writing, editing, and reporting.

Parking Problem Is Making Slow Progress

By James Yard

The Board of Trustees of Highline College has been working on the problem of parking on campus.

The college has been working on the problem of parking on campus for the past few years. The board has held meetings to discuss the problem and has agreed to take action.

The board has approved the construction of a new parking lot on campus. The lot will be built near the present parking lot and will provide more space for students and staff.

The college has also agreed to purchase property from the city of Des Moines. The property will be used to build a new parking garage.

Flexible Stage Is Key Point

By Doug Shilling

The central feature of the new $2 million performing arts building to be dedicated this Friday is its flexible stage. The area will be a "wonderful addition" to new Performing Arts Building, said Charles Goodwin, chairman of the arts division.

"I think we would never get this opportunity to students who have never even been to a college," Goodwin said. "It will be a wonderful place!"

Flexible stage is one of the features that will serve 12 people making-up simultaneously. There is a costume shop area and several other rooms. They are: thrust, in which the audience surrounds the stage on three sides, proscenium, otherwise known as "theater-in-the-round."

"We think its facilities are going to be excellent. It offers the opportunity to teach in the fine arts, drama, music and dance programs not only in the humanities division, but also in other departments of the university," Goodwin said.

According to Mr. Ed Fish, chairman of the performing arts center, the building is being dedicated in honor of his father, Dr. Edward H. Fish, the university's first president.

Some of the things that we are working on include improving the communication between SWEA and the administration, and improving the relationship between SWEA and the faculty. We are also working to make SWEA a more diverse organization, and to make sure that everyone who wants to be a member of SWEA can be a member.

This is not just a work of the SWEA members, but it is a work of the entire student body. We are all working together to make SWEA a better organization, and we are doing it for the benefit of all of us.

Happy Holidays to All

We wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year. We look forward to seeing you all in the new year.
The Holiday Season Is a Time for All

CHRISTMAS CEREMONIES

Christmas, in the Western Hemisphere, is celebrated in many different ways. The Christian celebration around the world is to remember the birth of Jesus Christ, which is the central event of Christianity. The festival is celebrated on December 25, although the date is not fixed by the Bible. Christmas is a time of feasting and merriment, with gifts and decorations. The term "Christmas" comes from the Old English Christesmas, which means "Christ’s Mass." The day is usually associated with the decorating of the Christmas tree and the Santa Claus, a figure that has become synonymous with the holiday season.

The use of holly, mistletoe, and yule logs have been handed down from the past. The tradition of the Christmas tree dates back to the 16th century in Germany, where it was first used as a decoration for religious celebrations. The Santa Claus figure is believed to have originated in 18th-century Denmark, where he was known as "St. Nicholas." Over time, the character evolved into the modern-day Santa Claus that we recognize today.

Many cultures around the world celebrate Christmas in their own unique way. In England, this season is marked by fireworks, a feast prepared by the men, and the worship of the sun god. In Italy, Christmas is celebrated with sweets, candies, and a variety of seafoods. In Japan, the Buddhists celebrate "Shuso-Ye," a festival of gratitude to Buddha. On New Year's morning, Buddhists attend a temple ceremony to pour sweet tea over the statue to symbolize the hopes for a prosperous new year.

In Mexico, the festivities include a rice pudding which contains one almond, and a variety of traditional dishes. Steaming-hot plum pudding, roasted chestnuts, and a blazing yule log are also part of the Mexican Christmas celebrations. In Norway, many Norwegians do not open their presents until the New Year. The celebration is marked by religious ceremonies, the sending of good cheer, and a good year to come.

FAMOUS CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS

The celebration of Christmas is not limited to the Western Hemisphere. In India, the Buddhists celebrate "Hana Matsuri" (a special service for the birth of Buddha) on April 8. They have a temple built entirely from flowers and place a statue of the baby Buddha. The turning of the year, by the Gregorian Calendar, is celebrated with fireworks. The Italians do not decorate their houses with Christmas trees, and the Dutch celebrate Hanukkah, which means dedication, on the twenty-fifth day of December. The celebration is marked by religious ceremonies, the sending of good cheer, and a good year to come.

THE BIRTHDAY OF CHRIST

The birth of Christ is celebrated in Christian countries all over the world. The day is usually associated with religious ceremonies, the sending of good cheer, and a good year to come. In England, this season is marked by fireworks, a feast prepared by the men, and the worship of the sun god. In Italy, Christmas is celebrated with sweets, candies, and a variety of seafoods. The Highline College Thunderbirds opened their basketball season last Friday night with a decisive win over the Shoreline Spartans.

Both teams entered the contest with high hopes, but the Thunderbirds emerged victorious with a 98-90 final score. Harold Ross, a returning letterman on the Highline team, was the high point man in the game, scoring a total of 31 points. Ross was instrumental in leading the team to their style of play and scoring the final 98 points to walk off with the victory.

The game started off with a bang as Highline's causers were hopping for Santa to ring them the first ball. Highline led hands many times, but Shoreline showed signs of weakening late in the game. New Swimming Team Takes To The Water

Having taken it upon himself to organize and take over the swimming program for the pool in the field of athletics, Milton Orphan, in charge of the pool and formerly a member of the swimming team, will be in charge of the pool this year. Swimming as of now, is only an extramural sport. Mr. Orphan says they are concentrating primarily on individual times and personal performances. To promote school spirit and pride, Mr. Orphan says that the students are going to have a swimming meet everyday.

The events are as follows: 400 yard freestyle relay, 1,000 yard freestyle, 500 yard freestyle, 200 yard butterfly, 100 yard freestyle, 200 yard breast stroke, 400 yard medley.

The Swim meets will be held here at 3:00 p.m. February 23, against Everett JC. The first meet was held November 11. The Highline swimmers meet only an extramural sport.
