Playwright Discusses Negro Influences On American History

Mr. Richard Lucas, a college educated Negro playwright, author and speaker, was the guest speaker at the Student Forum last week. His talk was entitled "Footnotes to History." February 21 in the University of Montana Union. In this talk, he emphasized that Negro subculture is essentially a social one. "The Negro is a subculture, not a race." He pointed out that Negro subculture includes groups such as the Hippie movement and the Black Power movement, which he felt were more important than the traditional "haves and have-nots," and he pointed out that these subcultures were not necessarily related to race or religion.

He referred to the question of the Negro need for heroes and race pride. "Culture heroes are important in sustaining a black nation. They provide people with ethnic pride." He also pointed out that the African American History course, which has been offered at Highline College, is an important part of the Negro's need for heroes and race pride. He urged his audience to support these efforts and to work towards a better understanding of the Negro's need for heroes and race pride.

In conclusion, he stated that "Negro subculture is not just a social phenomenon, but a political one as well." He emphasized the importance of understanding the role of Negro subculture in the development of American society.

Free Thinker Speaks At College Forum

By STANFORD WATSON

Free expression and open discussion were the themes of the free speech debate at the College Forum last week. The forum was a debate between two students who had different opinions on the use of free speech on campus. The students were discussing the importance of freedom of speech in a democratic society.

The debate was held in the University of Montana Union, and was attended by a large audience. The students presented their arguments to the audience, and the moderator moderated the discussion. The audience was engaged and lively, and the debate ended with the students stating their final positions on the issue.

The forum was an important event for the students and the community, as it provided a platform for free expression and open discussion. It was a positive step towards creating a more inclusive and open-minded community at the University of Montana.
U.S. Administration Wants College Educated Privates

BY JOHN WILSON

Don't look in the mirror on your way out. You've just been drafted. The army might not have killed the draft in your mind, but it sure has deterred it. A new draft law that says no more deferments for college private education means that anyone who earns a college degree before the draft will not be drafted unless they owe a $5,000 loan to the government. "This is a step forward," says President Johnson. "It ensures that college graduates will be drafted only if they have the financial means to pay for it." The law also applies to those who have already graduated and now have loans to pay. "It's a relief," says one graduate. "I'm free to go to work, not the army." The government estimates that 50,000 college graduates will be affected by the new law.

Jungle Fighting?

So that when you graduate from college, you can go out and be a part of the jungle fighting. The government wants privates with college degrees, why don't you? Surely there is at least one freshman attending college who wants to serve his country, and the army will find him.

No Elections, Why?

It has been long noted that the student government has not held elections for the past seven weeks. "As far as we know," says the president, "the executive board has done very little in the way of serving the student body."

Surely there is at least one freshman attending college who wants to serve his country, and the army will find him.

Food for Thought - Drugs

Editor,

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my concern about the increasing use of drugs among college students. My son, who is a sophomore, has been struggling with this issue and it has affected his academic performance. I believe we need to address this problem more seriously.

Psychological Study
People Watching

By Janice Mori

One of the most chronic diseases, or to be more correct, an unnatural and undesirable human peculiarity is Peoplewatching.

The best advice one could give to anyone who is prone to this disease is to get into the habit of psychological study. By that habit is meant there are certaindiseases which are prevalent and are unnatural.

In the case of the above, the disease is Peoplewatching and it becomes prevalent.

In this case, Peoplewatching is a great sport and is often a great joy. Peoplewatching can also also be called a great sport - but it becomes unhealthy.

There, in the black room of nothingness
To reflect on the distant images of lift
Emerging from the depths of a world of darkness
The innocence of not knowing
The restful peace of darkness

Light waves to the brain
I awoke into a dream of colors and lights
Oh no! The end of a way of life!
Outside it was disturbing
A door slightly opened before the eyes of ignorance

The realities of war, fear, and hate
And outside it was cold
Lives beginning and lives ending
I locked the door behind me forever and looked around the world
Spring
But outside there was newness. awareness and life
Hills of bright green softness
Cities of racing lights and crashing images
And hills appear to the youthful mind and inspire it to live
Heights never imagined
Blueness of the deepest hue
People loving each other People crying
Red
Pounding through the brain
Bands of human beings fighting, struggling, destroying to survive
And carefully painted hillside
Beside the cartoonlike houses
Candy houses and horses of nobility
They stay alive forever
Children live there
Mothers and fathers live there
Dogs, cats, frogs, ferns, dandelions, people
Fenceposts and fire engines
The circus life continues as the speed becomes greater
Wow
Come back mind
The mind is in a constant state of confusion
Unfastened from the artificial bonds of security
My mind has been invaded
Their ways are strong and unbreakable
By unasked for prejudices of emotion
Groups form to convince them
Colors begin to fade as the former lovers of truth begin to fasten their minds to the lives of only themselves
When they can no longer hear the cries of helplessness from within

Cold hands, cool corners
In the back of Reality
Blowing over black thought
Blowing through the mind
And the fresh air is choking
And the river is passing
And the life is moving
And the light is running
And the sun is rising
And the water is rising
And the sun is coming

What's Wrong With Highline College?

By John Frey

Two of the main causes presenting at Highline College today, are the students' lack of interest and the instructors' lack of interest in teaching. These problems have been brought to the attention of the faculty and are receiving proper attention from them.

Many students feel that they are being taught the same things over and over again. They are interested in learning new things, but it is not happening. The instructors are not interested in teaching, and the students are not interested in learning.

Droke: True. Kischner: I find that the classes are just too long. It's worse than spoon feeding.

The students are apathetic in their studies. Droke: True. That's why they like multiple choice and hate essay questions. They want to be able to analyze the material they are being taught, but they are not able to do that. They are not interested in learning.

Frey: It shouldn't be just isolated memorized facts. They should be able to take the facts and apply them to the real world.

Kischner: Many students like that type of learning. It's easy for them. They don't have to think about it.

Droke: What I'm after is the ability to take facts and apply them to the real world. That's their real purpose.

Frey: With essay questions, the students tend to write a lot of words, but they don't really understand the material.

Kischner: With multiple choice, they can just mark the answers without really understanding the material.

European Summer Jobs Available to Students

The American Student Internship and Development Service (ASIS) in association with W.A. and Associates offers a wonderful opportunity for students to work in Europe this summer. A counselor to the program, Mrs. Mary Frances Eckert, will be available to answer questions concerning the program. She can be reached at Ext. 218.

Positions are available in West Germany and Switzerland. There are openings for students in the following categories: construction work, farm work, child care work, ship work, resort hotel work, office work, factory work, hospital work, summer work, and seasonal work. Students are encouraged to call for more details. The weather in Europe is mild and the scenery is beautiful.

The purpose of the ASIS program is to provide students with the opportunity to work in Europe this summer. The program is sponsored by the Northwest Gifted Child Association and featured at the 1968 Annual Conference of the Washington State College and the Northwest Gifted Child Association. The program is designed for students who have received an above average score on the SAT or the ACT, have a high GPA, and are interested in working in Europe this summer. Students are encouraged to call for more details.

If you are interested in working in Europe this summer, contact Mrs. Mary Frances Eckert at Ext. 218. She will be able to answer any questions you may have about the program. She can also provide you with more information about the program and the opportunities available. She can be reached at Ext. 218.

Thunderbirds To Face Olympic and Edmonds
Tonight and Tomorrow

The Thunderbirds, led by junior center Dan Johnson and senior forward Larry Yates, will look to continue their recent success as they prepare for a pair of games this weekend.

Against Olympic, the Thunderbirds will be without the services of guard John M. Smith, who is out with a sprained ankle. However, they will have the benefit of having senior guard Frank Ragsdale, who is back from a shoulder injury.

Against Edmonds, the Thunderbirds will face a team that is currently in third place in the Western Division. Edmonds is led by senior guard Jim Preugschat, who is averaging 20.0 points per game.

Wrestlers Win Tenth

By GEORGE DAVIS

The Highline College wrestling team clinched their tenth state title in a row on February 23. The meet was held at the Highline College Gymnasium, and the team had a successful season throughout. Their victory was attributed to their strong line-up and dedication to the sport.

The meet was called the outstanding "qu" by Delp and George Davis, who have been key figures in the wrestling community. Terry Johnson, the successful wrestler, earned a record-breaking victory over Ward Merkley in the 160-pound weight class. Johnson's win was a testament to his hard work and dedication.

First-Rate Team Has
Second-Rate Crowds

By John Scott

The Highline College wrestling team has been a success this year, but the crowds have been less than impressive. Despite this, the team has been able to maintain their high level of performance. The team is rated first in the state, and everyone has gone to the game and supported the team. At homecoming night, the team was rated first, and the audience was not dissatisfied.

Basketball Score
Controls Over Green River
81-79 - Wednesday Night

The Highline College basketball team controlled over Green River 81-79 on Wednesday night. The team's victory was a result of an intense finish, and they emerged victorious in a close affair.

Hockey Goalie
Is Tough Job

The Highline College hockey team has a tough job in front of them. The goalie, who is a veteran of nine years, has received many outstanding awards. The goalie is a star in the sport and a veteran in his position.

T-Birds Title Hopes Tarnished

By-rights, the T-Birds' title hopes are tarnished. The team was rated one in the state, but the T-Birds were not wrestling due to injuries. The team is still tied after this weekend, and an out-right division title would go to Highline.

T-Birds Score
Easy Victory

The Thunderbirds had an easy victory over the Midway school. The win was significant for the team, as it was a victory against their poorest performance in the league. The team is now at the bottom of the league.

Basketball Score
Highline College 80, Midway 79

The Highline College basketball team had an easy victory over the Midway school, winning 80-79. The game was played in Highline College Gymnasium, and the team played well throughout.

... T-Bird Style

Photos by Roland N. Jonason

Another ingredient is harassed opposition.

Basketball is a sport of con-tant variety. One variety is T-Bird style. To achieve this unique style, it takes a basketball, a huge Highline Pavilion, five outstanding players, a state tournament berth, a championship baton twirler for halftime, some rugged opposition, and a victory every week. Add to this, one Thunder-Word staff photographer, Roland N. Jonason, and the result is basketball T-Bird style.

Another ingredient is harassed opposition.

A T-Bird ball handler carefully plots a course of action for driving around the outstretched hand of a defender.

Oh... and don't forget the basketball.
