Class Visits Olympia

The Highline College Student Council sent four representatives to Olympia to discuss a bill sponsored by Rep. Larry Perry, also a former Highline College student, that would give the state's hospitals the ability to levy a sales tax to help support their operations. The members of the council are in support of the measure and are working to educate others on its importance. The Student Council also lobbied in support of a bill that would allow for the sale of lottery tickets in campus bookstores.

New Course...

Students enrolled at Highline College will have the opportunity to take a new course this fall that will focus on the role of nursing. The program offers a range of courses in nursing, including anatomy and physiology, pharmacology, and medical-surgical nursing. Barbara Butler and Barbara Berghman are the two student directors of People Are Caring this quarter, in charge of the program “People Are Caring.”

“People Are Caring” Mar 5

The Reader’s Theatre for this quarter is entitled “People Are Caring,” and will be held as a Thursday happening on March 14 and 15. It is sponsored by the Drama department. Barbara Berghman and Barbara Butler, both sophomores majoring in drama, have acquired membership for People and show great enthusiasm for their job.

People Are Caring is a representative, in both music and words, of various aspects of the disintegration of American society. Assorted works already produced by their authors have been compiled by Victoria Ramsey, a Highline student, and deal with subjects from the military-industrial complex to the decay of culture. Excerpts from Catch 22, James Thurber, Bob and Carol, Neal Boyd and more, will all go together to make for a thorough-going Reader’s Theatre at Highline College.

Miss Bloland, faculty advisor for the Theatre, stressed the fact that both performances are free and that the public is invited to attend.

The following report of Senate Bill No. 479 was presented to the State Legislature on January 17, 1970. Rather than repetition of the entire bill, the Thunderbird has elected to reprint this act in its entirety. This bill is but one step on the road to survival: we must take the following steps.

SENATE BILL NO. 479

Read first time, January 17, 1970, and referred to Committee on STATE GOVERNMENT.

An act relating to state government; establishing a commission on population stabilization; adding a new chapter to Title 11 RCW; and declaring an effective date.

NEW SECTION. 1. It is hereby created in the State of Washington, a commission, known as "the Secretary." The commission shall be composed of five members one of whom shall be elected as chairman. The membership shall include:
(a) One representative;
(b) One demographer;
(c) One economist;
(d) Two representatives of the general public.

NEW SECTION. 2. The chairman shall be appointed by the governor in consultation with the Joint Committee on Appropriations. He may be reappointed to successive terms, not to exceed two years, without limit.

NEW SECTION. 3. The commission shall appoint an executive secretary and such other staff as is necessary to effectuate the purposes of this act.

NEW SECTION. 4. (1) The commission shall appoint an executive secretary and such other staff as is necessary to effectuate the purposes of this act.

NEW SECTION. 5. The commission shall:
(a) Study the effects and changes of population growth and migration on the state of Washington, including health, education, urban planning, recreation, transportation, recreation, welfare, and the environment;
(b) Recommend policies and administrative mechanisms for the attainment of the provisions of this section.

Not a day goes by without realizing how the situation in the Middle East has become so serious that it is increasingly used as an excuse to delay the implementation of the 70's program. The state of Washington has never been so divided, and the situation is deteriorating daily.

The Arab states have always been a peaceful nation towards Israel, and have maintained their resolve that they will not relinquish their land. They refuse to accept any plan of sharing the land as dictated by the United Nations. The Israeli government has been accused by many of using the situation to Their own advantage. The situation is tense and volatile, and there are no optimistic signs of a settlement. It has become a stalemate with neither side willing to give up any territory. This act shall be considered as an effective offensive war while taking a loss of pressure on our defensive tactics.

The only feasible possibility for the international community to maintain is that of maximum results from minimum output, which saves money and time, and the most valuable commodity Israel has: manpower. The Israelis are running a tight, disciplined, and well-trained army, Navy, and Air Force. While the Arab forces continue to lose men, the Israelis continue to gain. The Israelis have the upper hand, and until the situation changes drastically, they will continue to exert pressure on the Arab states.

This is what must never happen, for the U.S. and Russia to come into direct conflict with each other would only be more disastrous for the Arabs and Israelis, and the world itself. The Arab world is a rallying point for the Israelis. Because as long as the Arab states stay together, it will make it a lot easier for the Israelis to get control over the situation.

However, this war is not fought mainly on the front; it's fought mainly in the front pages of the world's leading newspapers. Both the Arabs and Israelis depend heavily on the media to shape public opinion. This is what must never happen, for the U.S. and Russia to come into direct conflict with each other would only be more disastrous for the Arabs and Israelis, and the world itself. The Arab world is a rallying point for the Israelis. Because as long as the Arab states stay together, it will make it a lot easier for the Israelis to get control over the situation.

Pollution Is Our Problem

This issue we shall devote to a smaller degree of pollution known as litter. Sure, the giant factories and industries are destroying the things that keep us alive, but that little candy wrapper thrown on the ground is as poisonous to our environment as those greasy urban enclosures. By the time you read this, we will have stepped into our 30th year of keeping the earth clean, and in doing so, doing a good job.

People are beginning to see the importance of keeping the earth clean, and in doing so, doing a good job. The candy wrapper is destroying the environment just as those large factories do.

Being a litter bug is quite common place for a litter bug is not considered a bad thing in Washington. Litter is always present on the ground, which makes it easy for someone to pick it up. In doing so, they are helping to keep the earth clean, and in doing so, doing a good job.

Everywhere you look there are signs of man's environmental destruction; it's the one thing we can do to stop. One person cannot make a difference, but when everyone tries, it can make a difference.

One possible solution is to make the earth clean, and in doing so, doing a good job. The candy wrapper is destroying the environment just as those large factories do.

"Summertree"

by Kathy Krege

Ron Cowen’s “Summertree” is a beautiful and sensitive play that puts the fears and hopes of a young man facing the uncontrollable realities of today’s world.

The play skillfully develops with scenes from a young soldier’s life that flash through his mind as he dies lying on the battlefield of Vietnam. Cowen’s honesty and sensitivity reveal in these scenes the anguish of a young man facing adulthood in our complex society.

With all the perplexing matters that cloud the minds of the “New Generation” — campus unrest and sexual revolution political matters and racial strife, the war in Vietnam in some way influences them all, and this play in one way or too other reveals the thoughts of the entire generation.

Through the various memory sequences, showing us the young man’s relationships with his uncompromising father, his over-protective mother, his girl friends and the elderly Vietnam veteran, we gain some insight into the man and why he got where he is.

Ron Cowen, the playwright, was the age of 38. “Summertree” first presented at the Eugene O’Neill Foundation Conference for Playwrights at Waterford, Connecticut and eighteen months later opened Off-Broadway at the Neighborhood Playhouse in 1968. Despite the fact that “Summertree” is Cowen’s first play, it has been praised by critics for its depth and sincerity.

The character of the play must make it almost unbelievable that this is his first play!

The Off-Broadway play opened in Seattle January 27th at the Seattle Repertory’s On Center Theater. Dick Wearmouth brilliantly portrays the part of the young man as his first major part with Seattle Rep.

Mrs. Morton is a woman who has spent eighteen years in professional acting and has been highly praised for many of his acting achievements.

By the way, the play is really a part of the play’s purpose is to keep you close to reality as possible. The characters are believable, possible people they believe in them as such.

The scenes are moving and never over acted or over emotional.

Concise conclusion of the play, “This is a lovely play. It really makes me think. I may very well speak for a generation.”

RENEWAL

By Bill Jackson

The small office which housed the State Patrol’s driver’s license division a few years ago made it possible to overhear two conversations in the small room.

One concerned the middle-aged officer, who had waited for his license renewal for several years: “I have to go back to the DMV to renew my license until you fulfill some sort of requirement.”

A few minutes before, the sixteen-year-old girl had parked the car and the examining officer beside her made a false affirmative check upon her driving record. He told her, “If you have never had an accident, then you have no need to renew your license until you fulfill some sort of requirement.”

The young officer continued to explain: “If you do not want to renew your license, you must take it out of the car and bring it to the DMV office to renew.”

Mrs. Morton, the 30-year-old officers wife, walked in and began to explain: “If you have never had an accident, you are absolutely clear from any requirement.”

The young officer continued to explain: “If you have never had an accident, you are absolutely clear from any requirement.”

Highline Music Talent Shines

By Dave Ogilvie

Attending classes isn’t the only thing that goes on at Highline. Talented students have found other outlets to pass the time.

Music is a big part of campus life. In fact, most classes have a musical aspect to them. Each quarter is a time for discovery as students are given the opportunity to show their musical talents.

The most popular musical activity is the music talent show. With over 100 entries, the music talent show is a popular event for both students and faculty. Many students have found their musical voice through the music talent show, and many others have found a new appreciation for music through the event.

In addition to the music talent show, there are also musical performances at the Highline syrup and the Highline coffee shop. These performances are open to all students and offer a chance for students to showcase their musical talents.

The music talent show is a great opportunity for students to show their musical talents. It is a chance for students to express themselves and to share their love for music. So, if you are looking for a way to express yourself and to share your love for music, the music talent show is a great place to start.

Money Talks

It is not always easy to plan your budget, but there are some tips that can help you organize your finances. One way to do this is to create a budget that includes all of your income and expenses. This can help you see where your money is going and where you can cut back.

Another way to organize your budget is to create a savings plan. This can help you save money for a goal, such as a vacation or a new car. You can also use this plan to help you build an emergency fund.

Finally, consider using a budgeting app or software to help you organize your finances. These tools can help you track your spending, set goals, and create a budget that fits your needs.

Swimmers Win

Face Oregon Next

Coach Mike O’Kane’s T-Bird swimming team, extending its winning streak to four straight, narrowly defeated three opponents recently. This week was a milestone in the team’s history, as they defeated the University of British Columbia in Canada 59-54, and upset the University of Alaska 94 to 14 at Highline’s pool. The T-Birds were a major highlight of the meet.

The T-Birds received good efforts from Gary Devereux and Dan Hudon in the freestyle events, Brian Payne in the breastroke, and Brian Payne in the diving events.

This Saturday, Highline faces the University of Oregon Ducks at the T-Birds pool. Oregon was ranked eighth in the nation last year, and recently lost by one point to a strong Western Washington team. Highline faces Central Washington in a rescheduled meet on February 16.

T-Bird Classic, the biggest meet of the year, has also been rescheduled to March 6 and 7.

Wooding's Warriors Whomp Yakima

The Highline College sports department has received some tremendous publicity lately and it's due largely to Coach Dick Wooding's wrestling teams.

The Thunderbirds are 19-0 for this season so far and they have accumulated 36 straight wins. The matches remain on their schedule for the rest of the season year before State competition.

The Highline College wrestling team made it a perfect opportunity for Wooding to out-grappling the Yakima Indians 37-2 on Saturday night.

118 lbs. Greg Lask won by forfeit at 138 to defeat Gene Viersen 5-4. Greg is one of those "cardinal kids" that gives him a man a lead and then worships on him.

126 lbs. Wolfie Patton got a lead and not much more to beat Dan Jones 1-0.

134 lbs. Dave Ackley roughed one out over Larry Nobel to get a 7-4 victory.

142 lbs. Lee Roe pinned on Chris Warren in 1:4 of the first round to gain a well executed pin.

158 lbs. John VanNoy is back into condition and showed a real "patsy." He recently was voted Outstanding Wrestler at the University of Washington Invitational Tournament.

167 lbs. Mark Brown pinned Mike Switzer in 1:16.

177 lbs. Steve Whidden pinned Mike Duffy in a long 5:53.

191 lbs. Dave Grieve racked up another pin by fattening Bob Gurry in 4:02.

Heavyweight John LaFever ground out a rough win over Bill Hill at 225 lbs.

How much money do you think GM spends on advertising for the Corvair?

The budget is not very high. The Corvair is not the most expensive car GM makes. The advertising budget is determined by the production cost of the car and its sales potential. The Corvair is not the most popular car, and the budget is adjusted accordingly.

How do you feel about the Corvair's performance compared to other compact cars?

The Corvair is as good as any other compact car. It is very reliable and has a lot of power.

What is the main reason behind its low sales?

The main reason is the competition from other manufacturers. There are many new and improved models on the market, and the Corvair is not able to compete.

What do you think about the possibility of a new generation of Corvair?

There is a possibility of a new generation, but it is not clear when it will happen.

Recently, I talked to the sales manager of Gene Fiedler Chevrolet about the Corvair. Have you heard any updates from them?

They are still looking into the matter. I have not heard any updates from them.

What is the future of the Corvair?

It is possible that the Corvair will be replaced by a new model. However, it is not clear when this will happen.

Finally, do you have any advice for the Corvair's future development?

I believe that the Corvair should be improved in terms of its design and features. It should also be made more competitive in terms of price and performance.
