your turn to vote

This is the year for political activism but also the year of apathy. We students want progress without getting constructively involved. Many changes there are certain responsibilities that must be assumed. Too often, students initiate new programs but do not follow through. Criticism must be accompanied by action.

Today is the ASHCC elections and participation has been minimal. Often we feel these positions rest on tokenism; however, the only way to get away with the situation is to get involved. There are many positions available that open avenues to student strength and these voices are available to open avenues to student strength.

Get off your backside (for the lack of a better word) and do something— at least VOTE!

Kathy Lord
ASB President

activism is dead

In an attempt to answer these questions, I made a few inquiries.

First of all, I called ASB President Kathy Lord. She informed me WASHPIRG had moved on to greener pastures—U of W and as such...

In case you are not familiar with WASHPIRG let me make a comment. WASHPIRG stands for Washington Public Interest Research Group. It is a group which would finance a grass-roots organization which would look into consumer and citizen problems. Volunteers from each supporting campus would form a committee which would decide what problems to tackle. The state-wide organization would hire professionals (lawyers, scientists, what have you) to help the students investigate and prosecute if necessary.

Almost the epitome of participatory democracy.

I asked Dineen Doc., a Highline political science instructor and former WASHPIRG organizer, what happened to WASHPIRG. He informed me WASHPIRG had established a goal of obtaining the signatures of 50 per cent of the student body. That, they felt, would be a mandate for the establishment of WASHPIRG. The petition drive on Highline’s campus only netted the signatures of 20 per cent of the student body.

Dineen: “It’s hard to touch base with people here. There’s nothing that pulls them down.” Dineen also admitted that the WASHPIRG campaign had used better organization.

Next, I called the number 1 had for WASHPIRG at the University of Washington to ask how they were doing. Instead, I got the YMCA. I informed the fellow on the other end of the line that I had been told this was the number for WASHPIRG.

Fellow: “Oh, they used to be in this building.” He said. “But now they’re defunct.”

Conclusion: George Meany is a revolutionary compared to today’s college youth.

Dineen Grover

apathy prevails

Last Spring Quarter an Apathic Student body permitted 164 votes, less than a 5 per cent of the eligible voters, to elect your ASB President. At that time I published suggestions that might help to remedy this lethargic attitude. Here are those proposals and one or two more.

Article V., Section 9, Constitution for ASHCC, states that the candidate with the greatest total votes shall be elected. There should be a stipulation that it takes at least 10 per cent of the total eligible voters to validate the election. In 1976, 20 per cent voted. I would think you could do that well.

Secondly, under Article VII, Section 1, the term for ASHCC officers is from the end of Spring Quarter through the next Spring Quarter. Here, the term of office should be from Fall to Fall.

The ASB Constitution also stipulates that the president must be a second year student. This could create some problems, however.

I’m sure they could be worked out. One problem would be the outgoing president would probably graduate. Clearly it would be the vice president’s job to carry on business through Summer and, most importantly, it would be his responsibility to stage and promote the Fall election. That brings us to our current problem.

Today is election day even though it seems to have been a well publicized event. The ASB will have a new leader. The ASB would like to have more people who live in glass houses that seem to fit the offices of the ASB. If the officers and their government don’t care about aggressively projecting themselves outside their clubs, located above the cafeteria, then can they demand activism from the student body at large?

I think it’s time the voting booths are moved down into the cafeteria to help catch the mainstream. I think it’s time to see a little excitement going on. Putters plastered all over the campus are students to sign up for office and campaign posters looking for votes.

This could be a great lack of interest as well as turn ASB funds over to the Administration and beg the ASBCC.

5 corners poll

A lot of people haven’t yet made up their minds, if the Five Corners Precinct in the 3rd District is any indication.

Incredible as it seems, 40 per cent of the voters in the Five Corners Precinct indicated in a poll taken last month by George McGovern’s Labor Day visit to Seattle that they still do not have a preference in the presidential race.

One realization might be that the poll was conducted by the McGovern organization. That may have intimidated Nixon supporters to remain uncommitted.

When asked which political party they identified with, Five Corners voters responded thusly:

Democrats 40 per cent
Republicans 35 per cent
Independent 20 per cent

Assuming this poll was representative, both the Nixon and McGovern organizations have a lot of work to do at least in the Five Corners Precinct.

Should Five Corners Precinct be representative of the 3rd District, Highline students interested in one campaign or the other should investigate their own precincts and find out what they can do.

Election Day is less than a month away. The outcome, however, may still be up in the air.

The net effect is that the Vietnam War has proven itself as a world leader who will not back down on important issues. He has reduced our involvement in Vietnam without sacrificing our image. He has improved our relationship with Red China, certainly a notion to be reckoned with in future years. He has negotiated with the North Vietnamese and established substantive and cultural and material relations we haven't had in years.

The U.S.A. cannot afford to have a glib, naive president during these crucial years. McGovern has proven himself to be willing to promise anything to achieve the presidency, to achieve power regardless, but both for how long and at what price? Time after time he has had to retract his statements. He makes a high-blown promise one day — the next day retracts it as impractical. Another day, another promise and then he says he was "misinformed." It is frightening to think what would happen to our country with such a leader, naive personality meeting the heads of state of Red China, the USSR or any other Communist country. He has promised program after program to satisfy the "voters." Yet he says no tax increases will be necessary. Is there any reason to believe the voters? Anyone knows you can't maintain the image and the illusion of government expenditures from a monopoly tax on the sky. It has to come from the tax payer.

Tax reform is a vital necessity. With a Republican Congress, President Nixon can accomplish the needed reforms. The Democratic-controlled Congress of the term has stymied him in his own political aims. Nixon has been warned about sacrificing our image in Vietnam, but he is bound to the people of the country. With the backing of a Republican Congress, Mr. Nixon could undo the freeloaders. See McGovern would only add to their ranks, leading to higher and higher taxes from all of us who pay and pay and pay to support the war, which McGovern wants to stop.

Vietnamese History Proves U.S. Wrong

by Denise Grover

There are other issues which greatly effect our lives, but the strongest issue George McGovern has in the Vietnam War. McGovern has pinpointed America's war folly for nearly a decade. However, now that he is in the spotlight his criticisms have grown fewer. Possibly he fears the rug will be pulled from beneath him.

To make matters worse, polls indicate Americans approve of President Nixon's war policy. Anti-war rallies, now, are few and far between. Those that do take place draw comparatively few people. It has been suggested that those who would normally organize and attend anti-war rallies are too busy campaigning for McGovern.

The net affect is that the United States continues its involvement in a war it had no business getting into. With each year that is lost and with each dollar we spend, our original objective is compromised.

Woodrow Wilson, with his 14 Points, offered the hope of self-determination to previously colonized people. World War I and World War II showed how self-determination was principle in Vietnam. France being one of the allies and the producer in Indo-China. He was ignored.

However, French communists sympathized with the Vietnamese and tried to organize a movement to free Vietnam. This movement failed, but did provide backing to the struggle to liberate Vietnam. In 1943, the communist support, Ho finally pushed the French out of Vietnam in 1946.

At the Geneva Conference in 1954 Vietnam was temporarily divided into two states, north and south, until an election could be held two years hence. According to Ellen Hammer in Vietnam, Yesterday and Today, the 7th parallel dividing line was set to be interpreted as a "political or territorial boundary." Vietnam was to be recognized as a single, sovereign state.

The United States refused to sign the Geneva Accord. The elections never took place because the United States feared communists would win. Now North Vietnam is brand new the agreement, continuing their 40 year old struggle for independence. That is equivalent to calling Lincoln the villain of the U.S. Civil War because his armies invaded Atlanta.

North Vietnam is communist today because the United States failed to see the dubious French persuasion on the Vietnamese. Self-determination, from the American point of view, only applied to white European countries. Those wrongs cannot now be righted by labeling the North Vietnamese as aggressors in their own country.

The United States has no moral, no legal excuse for continuing its role in the civil war between North and South Vietnam. There is no excuse for mixing the hordes of North Vietnam. There is no excuse for continuing North Vietnam.

Neither is there any excuse for the guilt of the American people.

We are coming to the fact that the people of all will have heard one much more effectively than the people of good will. We have to re-learn in this generation not merely for the spiritual values and actions of the last people, but for the upholding of the most sacred principles.

Law 'N' Order — An Empty Phrase

By Brian Mair

Four years ago, Richard Nixon offered himself as a candidate for the presidency, promising to "strengthen the hand of peace" through his "law and order" stand: get the criminals Republic of Vietnam and get the criminals out of circulation.

The facts prove Mr. Nixon a failure in crime prevention: Since 1968 the number of murders in the United States has shot up by 30 percent; the increase of forcible rape has been 17 percent; robbery and larceny have risen by 45 percent; and assault and burglary have climbed by 25 percent.

Crime rates have gone up every year since the Nixon administration came to power and yet there has been no observable action on the President's part to fulfill his "law and order" promise.

If Mr. Nixon hopes to usher in his generation of peace, he would do well to start at home. In 1966, at his climax, for, as you read his, the fighting continues, not only in Vietnam and Cambodia, but in Seattle, Chicago, Boston and San Francisco, too.

In the event that the administration cannot gather the courage to stand up to the gun lobbyists, I only hope George McGovern does.

Politics: Hot Air

by Pam Robinson

Driving to school recently I observed a billboard that read. "Your tax dollars at work."

I've found this to be true in trying to keep up with Presidential candidates.

We see the people who support McGovern and those who support Nixon, but what about those of us who are not comfortable with either candidate and yet feel compelled to the media or the candidates have been given the right to vote, so let's use it. We've got until November 7th.
Candidates' Fair Opens Tomorrow At NSCC

Politicians, but dogs, ads, drinks and live caricatures of the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey will be on hand in the Student Center tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. as part of the Republican candidate's Fair.

Directions to the college are explained in the weekly edition of the Thunder-Word.

The College's Center for the Study of Practical Politics, directed by Virg Anderson, will sponsor the all-day affair in cooperation with other community colleges.

Students and political candidates from the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Districts will be invited to present their positions.

"Many citizens may be overwhelmed by the number of candidates and ballot issues on which they must make a decision in November," said Anderson. "The Center of Practical Politics is established to provide the voter with a source of information to become better acquainted with the candidates and issues at the Candidates' Fair."

Local Support

Candidates, business, industry, special interest groups and political groups from the Puget Sound region will support and participate in the Fair, which is one of the few opportunities to become better informed on the issues.

The Fair represents a new approach to non-partisan political rallies in Washington. "There are Democratic rallies and there are Republican rallies," said Anderson. "But they are not political rallies, they are not designed to encourage the voter to go to the polls."

All indications are that this event will be non-partisan in character.

"An informed citizen is a valuable citizen. We are attempting to find out what the people are thinking about," said Anderson. "Our hope is that candidates will indicate some of the issues they will be running on."

Three candidates of both parties will speak:

1. Komo-TV has committed itself to making Candidates' Fair '72 part of their special election coverage. Their video-tape cameras will be rolling all day. From this footage Komo will produce two half-hour programs for delayed prime-time broadcasting.

"We are going to use student advisors and other related topics independent of the regular services," said Anderson. "But the people who attend the Fair will be able to hear the positions of the candidates of both parties until they allocate a considerable amount of time to going to all parties. That's asking a lot of the voter."

Another Home of Candidates' Fair 72 will be the Fairmont Junior College, 811 11th Avenue, Seattle 6, where Lendy, Past State Chair of the Republican party, will give a speech.

The College of Southern Idaho, Idaho Falls, Idaho, is also likely to participate in the Fair.

Citizens Look At The Legislature

The Citizen's Conference on the Washington State Legislature is looking for students willing to participate in their "Student Internship Program."

"All internships will be in cooperation with either specific research projects or with ongoing operations of the Conference," according to a brochure CWSL has distributed.

Students and teachers are encouraged to participate in the program if they are interested in political science, organizational behavior and growth, education, public relations, sex, social science, law, journalism, office management, computer science or sociology.

The only limit on student participation, according to the brochure, are those of the imagination. Students can work in groups or individually. They can conduct their projects in Olympia or in their own communities.

The major CWSL objectives include:

1. To facilitate reform of the Washington State Legislature.
2. To provide the state's citizenry with easily accessible, responsive and comprehensive information systems for the Washington State legislative process.
3. To develop model curricula offerings for elementary school, junior and senior high school and college level instruction.
4. To provide the legislature and the state's citizenry with ongoing evaluations of all facets of the state legislative process.

Child Care Taught

by Jane Lecuyer

A Workshop on "Creative Child Care in the Home" will be held at Highline Community College on two Saturdays, the first session tomorrow, the second on Nov. 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for anyone interested in child care in the home.

The two day workshop is sponsored by the King County Department of Social and Health Services and Highline Community College.

Participants should bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided.

If you are interested in Child Day Care, please telephone 417-3575, Ext. 341 for further information or to register for the sessions.

Students Help In Counseling

by Ann Hagen

Highline Community College in Des Moines is offering a new program, the Counseling Center, in a program now being discussed throughout the nation. The Center can be used by interested students with such problems as registration, transfering credits, vocational programs and occupational and technical programs. They will be assisted counselors in answering drop-in questions in the counseling center.

If any students are interested, they are advised to hang their name and telephone number at the counseling office or call Lendy Lengly in counseling.

There has been keen interest in establishing the counseling center in the Des Moines High School. This stems from the fact that the high school is the first being the large use of counselors in community colleges. Students are being served in their classes about the program and are meeting with easily accessible, responsive and comprehensive information systems for the Washington State legislative process.

Wanted: One Editor

Highline College’s writing publication, The Gallery is being expanded and requires a student editor as well as contributors. The English Department is presently looking for an editor who will be working on the project throughout the year and whose responsibilities will include the selection of manuscripts and production of materials for four separate issues. In return for his or her work, the editor will gain first-hand knowledge about publishing in the humanities that besides being awarded a full tuition scholarship for spring quarter.

All interested students, who have worked with publications before, are invited to fill out an application form available at the secretary's desk in Building B and to confer with members of the faculty committee.

KING-TV Program Will Explore Racism

"We are now, as we may well be for some time to come, in the midst of what is rapidly becoming the most terrible and urgent domestic crisis to face this nation since the Civil War." (Robert F. Kennedy)

SEATTLE, WASH - King Broadcasting Company, Seattle's channel 5, are proud to announce production of a six part color telecourse series devoted to the study of racism and minority groups in the United States.

Though many Americans perceive racism as a force in our national life, few understand it. The telecourse examines the nature and history of discrimination in America and the elements inherent in the psychology of racism. Written and produced by Dr. Nathaniel M. Wagner, Clinical Psychologist.

Racism and Minority Groups is the first telecourse in a series of courses offered by the University of Washington Extension Service and KING TV for more than ten years. It represents a unique extension of the University to the community by bringing the knowledge and experience of teachers and experts to the homes of viewers, wherever they may be, in the northwest.

Dr. Wagner will conduct the 30-week series of telecasts (two per week) per 30 minutes each, drawn from three textbooks. He will be assisted by a panel of experts, drawn from the community.

The course will be aired on two evenings each week, at 6:30, until the end of the school year. The series will be held at the University Extension Building.

The course reflects the synthesis of 20 years of research in teaching television class time into 30 minutes of effective communication. The necessity to present the material coherently and thoroughly within the reduced amount of time is made possible by the many and obvious technical advantages of television that can offer a somewhat richer curriculum than is generally possible in the classroom - greater, more uniform, the advantage of first-rate research assistance that has gone into the course.

Two telecourses will air each week on KING TV 5 - Mondays and Wednesdays beginning Monday, October 9th.

The five-season, 30-week telecourse will cover the American and world history, and students may earn four extension credits for successful completion. The course is described as Psychology G.331, and the credit student will watch the televised lectures, prepare correspondence assignments drawn from the lectures and the three required textbooks and take a supervised final examination.

Information about noncredit participation, using a simplified study guide that can be purchased for $3.00, may be obtained by calling the University of Washington Telecourse office at 221-2920. The course fee for credit registration is $55.00. Upon payment of the fee and enrollment in the course, the student will receive a study guide kit containing complete information to accomplish the course work.

Enrollment for credit registration closes October 11, 1972. Applications for credit registration must be obtained from the University of Washington's Division of Independent Study, 203 Lewis Hall, Seattle, 98195. The telephone number is 221-5226.

SWEA Plans Elections and Conference

Student Washington Education Association is busy these fall days preparing for local elections and the Leadership Conference scheduled this weekend at Central Washington State College in Ellensburg, according to Teresa Harris and Barbara Durlick, public relations representatives for the Highline College Chapter of SWEA.

Highline SWEA elections will be held today at SWEA headquarters, Snohomish 260, at 12:30. Arrangements are being set up to provide transportation and housing as well as for active participation in the Ellensburg session. This will be the first full opportunity for U.C.C.'s students to meet with students from all the other colleges and universities throughout the state.

At the last spring conference, Highline's delegates for on-the-ground delegates sent by other institutions. If plans materialize, this record will be held again at the C.W.S.C. Leadership Conference.

Shamus Birge had the honor of being elected District Chairman at the last S.W.E.A. state conference. Highline College is proud to claim him as one of its own student body members. He will remain active in the chapter here while also handling his district-wide duties.

Dr. M. A. ('Pat') Allen is the instructor for the Introduction to Education classes on this campus and works closely with Mrs. Eleanor Heino, who has been SWEA Advisor for the chapter for the past eight years.

KING-TV 5 is proud to announce production of a six-part color telecourse series devoted to the study of racism and minority groups in the United States.

The course is described as Psychology G.331, and the credit student will watch the televised lectures, prepare correspondence assignments drawn from the lectures and the three required textbooks and take a supervised final examination.

The course fee for credit registration is $55.00. Upon payment of the fee and enrollment in the course, the student will receive a study guide kit containing complete information to accomplish the course work.

Dr. Wagner will combine the telecourse with his psychology class in a yearlong, 50-hour study of the goals of society. For some students, the telecourse may be a useful supplement to their class work.

Each telecourse will cover the American and world history, and students may earn four extension credits for successful completion. The course is described as Psychology G.331, and the credit student will watch the televised lectures, prepare correspondence assignments drawn from the lectures and the three required textbooks and take a supervised final examination.

On a weekend not long ago, I took my McGovern bumper sticker over Snoqualmie and Blewett passes to the land of the gorgeous pines and vine maples.

In a village called Leavenworth, known as the "Little Bavaria of the Cascades," young and old alike had gathered to celebrate at the Festival of the Autumn Leaf. Nestled among the eastern foothills of the Cascades in Icicle Valley, Leavenworth is located 22 miles west of Wenatchee on U.S. Highway 2.

A decade ago, Leavenworth was near extinction. A large sawmill and the Great Northern Railway had deserted the village, leaving behind an assortment of apple growers.

In 1963, residents of the village got together and decided something had to be done to save Leavenworth. The Alpine theme generated enthusiasm. Shop owners began remodeling their storefronts, transforming Leavenworth into a Bavarian village. A bandstand was built in the city park across Main Street and a bell carillon system was acquired.

Now, besides apples, Leavenworth boasts of another industry — tourism. Three festivals are scheduled during the year to attract tourists. The Mai-Fest is held the first weekend in May to celebrate the awakening of spring. The Autumn Leaf Festival is a celebration of the turn of the vine maple, held from the last weekend in September through the first weekend in October. On the first weekend in December the imminent arrival of Santa Claus is anticipated with the Christmas Lighting Ceremony.

Leavenworth is a year-round vacationer's paradise offering golf, fishing, swimming and boating, hiking and mountain climbing, skiing, snowmobiling and dog sledding. It's 121 miles back to Seattle over the Sunset Highway and Stevens Pass. I don't know about the bumper sticker, but I sure hated to leave.
Macbeth Opens SRT Season

Shakespeare's powerful classic MACBETH will celebrate the opening of the Seattle Repertory Theatre's thirteenth anniversary season on Oct. 25 at 8 p.m., and Sunday, Oct. 22 at 2 p.m. The tour will feature two special guests of the company - Peter Collot in the title role of the scheming king, and Susan Clark in the role of his ambitious wife, Lady Macbeth. Although this is the shortest of Shakespeare's classic tragedies, it is considered by many literary historians as his greatest masterpiece, and in an especially fitting season for this decade, as the very first production staged by the Repertory in 1963 was KING LEAR. Since then, the Theatre has presented an all-Shakespearean play, TWELFTH NIGHT, HENRY IV. PART I, A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM, and RICHARD II, the latter starring Richard Chamberlain in his American Shakespearean debut.

Free Tour Is Offered

An introduction to Seattle's colorful past will be provided in Bill Speidel's Underground Tour on Thursday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. The tour will be available to anyone with an all day or evening card holders and will begin at the Seattle Repertory Theatre's box office, 2214 5th Avenue. A presentation of student ID cards.

Humperdinck In Concert

Oh The Pain...

by Tim Hillard

The margin reads: "WHERE DOES IT HURT?" a prescription for laughter, and that is exactly what one after spending through 90 minutes of possibly the worst picture of the year 1972. Starring Peter Sellers and Jo Ann Pflug (of M.A.S.H. fame) in its leading roles, WHERE DOES IT HURT? attempts to be a satire of the medical profession, its doctors and in particular its high-priced hospitals. The over-simplified and unrealistic plot centres around the Vista Vue Hospital and the antics of its crooked administrator and the remainder of the somewhat dishonest staff (Mr. Pflug et al.).

As the film progresses we see a great number of patients hospitalized for a variety of mis-diagnosed ills - all meaning huge hospital bills with the insurance companies picking up the tab. To finally put an end to this Hollywood disaster, the entire operation is reprimanded by the hospital inspector and Sellers loses his job.

In general the entire film resembles something out of a children's story book. The unsuccessfull attempts at humor belong in the gutter along with the acting. At each minute drag by, not a doubt is left in anyone mind that Peter Sellers is no actor and the only outstanding quality Mr. Pflug has is well, in any case WHERE DOES IT HURT? is definitely a pain in the...

Bentley To Voice Verses

Nelson Bentley, well-known poet and associate professor of English at the University of Washington, will speak in the HCC Lecture Hall Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 11:30.

Since 1962, Bentley has taught Modern Poetry, Poetry Workshop, and Literature American Literature, Romantic Poetry, Victorian Poetry, Shakespeare, Modern Drama, Chaucer, and many other topics. Over 200 of his students are publishing poems in leading national magazines. Different poems will be read and a discussion with each of three groups about his serious and erotic poems will be includ- ed.

HCC Play Set For December

The Highline Drama Dept. is planning to present the play, 'Six Characters In Search For An Author' by the Italian author Pirandello on December 1-4. Written in 1921, the play deals with six ghost-like 'characters' that had roles in a play that was never finished, and together they are searching for an author.

Miss Shirley Robertson, Drama advisor, describes the play as an "interweaving mixture of real and surreal, natural and supernatural." Earlier she had hopes of presenting "A Voyage Around My Father," by John Mortimer, a new play never before presented in this country. Miss Robertson had viewed it in England this past June. Unfortunately the rights for 'Voyage' were denied Highline because of a pending professional production of the play in New York.

Horatio's - Dining in Old Sea-World Atmosphere

A relatively new restaurant (celebrating its first anniversary on Nov. 13) Horatio's, located at 1300 Westlake Ave. N. in Seattle offers an exciting experience in dining pleasure. With Lake Union as a backdrop the interior decorations combine with the beautiful and charming serving whimsies dressed in the garb of the time to suggest an old sea-world atmosphere.

With a seating capacity of 122 the dining room offers not only love seats for two but tables large enough to seat a party of seven. The menu accommodation almost all tastes with assortment of seafoods and steaks -- and the clam chowder can't be beat. All of this at moderate prices ranging from $4.35 to $6.50.

The Dessert bar is just as exciting with specialties such as the "Virginia Lassie" for the ladies and the "Officer's Dreg" for the hard core. Entertainment appears every Monday through Saturday between 8 and 1:30.

Horatio's is in its Pub Lunch (sandwiches and things) which is available anytime and is perfect for those who wish a light snack before or after a movie.
The Dessert bar is "anything you feel comfortable in," and Horatio's is open for lunch Monday through Friday from 11:30, with dinner beginning daily at 5:30. The restaurant closes at 11:30 on weekends, midnight on Saturdays, with the bar remaining open till 2 a.m.

Film Series - No Cost Culture

by Mary Brown

One of the finest cultural offerings on the HCC campus is Jim Smith's Film Series, a program which presents weekly -- at no cost to students -- some of the finest narratives and dramatic classics ever made.

The films are shown each Tuesday in the Lecture Hall at 2:30 and are open to campus audiences and guests.

Most of the series, which features many foreign-made films, began Oct. 3 with THE GOLDEN AGE OF COMEDY, showing sequels of the comedy greats of the 20's, including Laurel and Hardy, Will Rogers and the Keystone Cops.

Oct. 10 featured Danish director Carl Dreyer's film, VAMPYR, the story of a young man, who, finding a girl who has taken the form of an old woman after being attacked by a vampire, follows the instructions of a book about the vampire legends to succeed in destroying the evil woman and her sinister assistant.

The series next two selections are:
- Oct. 17, TRIUMPH OF THE WILL. Hitler himself commissioned Leni Riefenstahl to produce this "yoosee-snapper." A historic record of the Sixth Annual Party Congress in Nuremberg, one of the most extravagant propaganda rallies the world has ever seen -- all done up by Hitler and Goebbels.

Hundreds of thousands of persons were involved in this film, which begins with "Der Funker"'s descent from the skies, his plane casting its shadow on Nuremberg like the black eagle -- symbol of the Nazi party. Also included are scenes of Hitler standing in a moving car making his way through streets clogged with frenzied worshippers; Nuremberg as a sea of swastika banners -- and a lot of marching.

Jens Bjerre, whose films have been accorded international honors including an award at the Edinburgh Film Festival for THE LAST CANNIBALS, present a film lecture Friday, Oct. 21 in the Lecture Hall from 11:30 - 1. Discussion will include Bjerre's impressive documentary RED CHINA. This new film is based on study and recent personal observation.

Bjerre, famous author and explorer also has presented THE NEW CHINA -- AFTER THE CULTURAL REVOLUTION. All aspects of Chinese life today are pictured: sports, art, medicine, education, fishing, farming, and the sciences. In his new film, Jens Bjerre explores and explains what happened in China during the years of the cultural revolution.

Also shown is what is taking place in China today, and how it contrasts from the isolated state it was once in.

Jens Bjerre has traveled over the world for more than 20 years as a writer and film producer. He has written four books translated into 16 languages and published in more than 2 million copies. His contributions have been seen in such magazines as "Life," "Reader's Digest," "London Illustrated News," and "Paris Match." He has deep insight into many international problems, and is in demand all over the world as a lecturer.

McConnaughey Becomes New Athletic Chairman

One of the major changes in the Highline Athletic Department this year is the naming of Mr. Don McConnaughey as its chairman. McConnaughey replaces Mr. Jack Hubbard who has been division head during the past five years.

As a result of the changeover, McConnaughey is leaving his post as Head Cross-Country Coach, with Assistant Coach Mike Johnson supplanting him. However Johnik, who has had a state record in the 300 yard dash and 400 yard dash, according to the new coach Mike Johnson, "Still provides competition in all track events."

Michael McConnaughey has been the only track coach of 5 years.

In 1964 McConnaughey was the 6th track coach for HCC's entire history.

The highline has had one over Division chairman before Hubbard. Mr. Ed Woodward started the highly successful program in 1961, with the school's first coach being McConnaughey.

Coach McConnaughey holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the State College of Arkansas and a Master of Arts from West Texas State University. While the coach was at Arkansas, he was an all-conference selection in the high school. When he joined the staff in 1961, he received his first varsity letter as a freshman in the national meet.

Coach Tom Rapp of Olympic College gave McConnaughey's new appointment when he said, "Don has the ability to continue the great athletic program at HCC, and I think this has been well proven through his outstanding track and field program."

Intramurals to Start Soon
by George Davis

The extensive intramural sports program at Highline this year is designed to a maximum number of students can participate, according to Dale Bolinger, manager.

The activities will be held between 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. as students having a 1:30 class may get there in time. No participation fees are charged to participants.

The program will offer five sports distributed among Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. For Fall, the planned sports are volleyball and tennis, while for Winter, basketball and tennis are the Winter activities, and softball, archery, and badminton will be held.

Runners Open Season Strong
by Doug McCausland

Despite much inexperience, the Highline Community College Cross-Country team provided a strong showing on Sept. 26 at Seward Park in the Bellevue Invitational.

Outstanding Highline C.C., which took all overall seventh place, was Spokane Community College which brought home a winning trophy. The best overall time was recorded by a Spokane runner, Tom Nix with a run of 30:18 for the 4-mile course.

Highline's best time was turned in by Leon Bombardier who will head up the spring quarter. Trophies are given to each member of a winning team in and in archery the first five places receive trophies.

Most any sport in which enough interest is shown could be added to the intramural program according to Bolinger. Women's teams will also participate in any sport that enough girls sign up for. A student may sign the list of participants for any sport at any time at the women's or men's locker rooms.

For detailed information about any intramural sport contact Bolinger or Intramural Assistant Larry Walker at the pavilion.

Runners on the Highline T-Bird cross-country team are running faster and faster according to coach Mike Johnson. The improvement in practice is attributed to hard work and a will to attain higher standings than the team's seventh place finish at the recent Bellevue Community College's Invitational.

The team of runners have been compiling 5 to 10 miles a day in their struggle to become winners. The long distance runners hold their workouts at such picturesque sights as Saltwater Park, Dash Point, Redondo Beach and anywhere else that coach Johnson might see a good steep hill to run up.

Leon Bombardier, Steve Quinnell, and Jerry Fulwider are the only returning sophomores this year. Bombardier was last year's team captain and finished fifth in the mile at the State Championships last year for the track team. Steve Quinnell finished 90th last year in the league's cross country tournament.

The team members that are freshmen this year are: Mike Murray, Bill Pigram, Dave Hawkins, Joe Stewart, Chris Gray, Kirk Hendrickson, and Dave Murray.

Students at Highline will get a chance to see the cross country action on Nov. 4 at 10:00 a.m., as Kirk Hendrickson will be in the race this year.

Coach Johnson Heads X-Country Team
by George Davis

Mike Johnson is the new cross-country coach at Highline Community College this year. Johnson, who was assistant track and field coach last year, will retain his status in track but will become head man in the cross-country sport.

Coach Johnson is a former Highline Community College student during the academic school years 1967-68 and 1968-69 and was a member of Highline's conference champion track team in 1968. Johnson ran cross-country for the T-Birds and finished fifth in the State Championships.

His major was P.E. and he minored in history at Eastern Washington State College in his third and fourth year of education. Highline's youngest coach now resides in Seattle and is only 30 years of age. This youth enables the new coach to run with the team members and according to some, they are hard-pressed to keep up.

Instructor 'Visits Land of Rising Sun

The following is an interview I did with Jack Pierce, John Terey and Geography and English about his trip to Japan and his experience with cultural adaptation.

The trip to Japan was important not only for its cultural and historical significance, but also for its impact on the personal and professional development of the instructors involved. The trip was a unique opportunity for the instructors to gain a deeper understanding of Japan's culture and history, as well as to develop valuable skills in cross-cultural communication and adaptation.

The trip began in Tokyo, where the instructors enjoyed a range of cultural experiences, including visits to traditional temples and shrines, as well as a trip to the nearby city of Kamakura. The instructors were impressed by the country's rich history and cultural heritage, as well as by the warm hospitality of the Japanese people.

The trip continued to the Tohoku region, where the instructors visited Sendai, the capital city of Miyagi Prefecture. The city is known for its beautiful scenery and its long history, dating back to the Edo period. The instructors were impressed by the city's blend of modern and traditional architecture, as well as by its vibrant arts and culture scene.

The trip concluded in the northern island of Hokkaido, where the instructors experienced a range of natural and cultural landscapes, including the snow-covered mountains of the Shiretoko Peninsula and the traditional villages of the Ainu people. The instructors were particularly impressed by the unique cultural and historical heritage of the Ainu people, who are Japan's indigenous people.

The trip was a valuable learning experience for the instructors, providing them with a deeper understanding of Japan's culture and history, as well as with valuable skills in cross-cultural communication and adaptation. The trip also provided an opportunity for the instructors to develop a greater appreciation for the diversity of cultures and traditions that make up our world.
