

Hello, Publisher Representatives!

Before telling me about your textbook options, please know that I am committed to ensuring the accessibility of my course materials for all students, including those with disabilities, and I need you to be able to answer the following questions about your product:

Are your e-books and online resources compatible with screen readers like JAWS?

If there is a study website or online component, is it fully accessible?
Are videos captioned and audio recordings transcribed?

Can all interactivity (media players, quizzes, flashcards, etc.) be completed by keyboard alone (no mouse required)?

Is there any documentation available (VPAT) that confirms accessibility or usability testing results?

DID YOU KNOW? In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), institutions of higher education are required to adhere to accessibility standards when designing, adopting and procuring educational materials and resources for the delivery of course curricula.
